American Passport Of Insull Is Ordered Taken Up

CONSULATE AT ATHENS INSTRUCTED

Move Will Make It Impossible for Former Financier to Leave Greece BELIEVED "IN TRAP"

In Meantime United States And Greece To Ratify Treaty of Extradition

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—(UP)—The state department today instructed the United States consulate at Athens to take up the American passport carried by Samuel Insull, sr., Chicago utilities magnate.

The move, officials believed, would make it impossible for Insull to leave Greece unless he is deported by the Greek government. In that case, it was understood here, he would be deported either to France or Italy, with which the United States has extradition treaties, or to his home country.

Officials at the state department said that Insull, under indictment in Chicago in connection with the collapse of his vast utilities empire, appeared to be "in a trap."

If he remains in Greece until the United States and Greece can exchange ratifications of their extradition treaty, he can then be brought back to this country by diplomatic action. The Greek instrument of ratification is now en route here.

Officials professed to have no certain knowledge as to whether Greer would deport Insull.

INSULL RELEASED TO CARRY ON FIGHT

ATHENS, Oct. 12.—(UP)—The changing fortune that marked Samuel Insull's rise and fall as a millionaire industrialist was on the up grade again today, and Insull was free to wage his battle against extradition without interference from the Greek government.

A dramatic change in the government's attitude toward the 72-year-old former utilities czar released him from arrest as a fugitive from justice and relieved him of police surveillance for the first time since he reached Athens after a six day flight from Paris by sea, land and air.

It was hinted here that outside influence, or perhaps official pressure, was brought to bear in obtaining Insull's release. Peter Vanech, a prominent Greco-American of Stafford, Conn., and personal Weston is an Arizona parolee convict and his sister is wanted in Chico on charges of grand theft, involving the stealing of an automobile.

The child was born at 9:45 p.m. last night to her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Rolf McPherson, the former Lorna Dee Smith of Oklahoma.

The McPhersons were married more than a year ago.

REELECTION OF HOOVER URGED BY COOLIDGE

Former President Comes to Aid of President With New York Speech

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—(UP)—Calvin Coolidge urges that Herbert Hoover be kept in the White House because "things would have been much worse" for his "vision, courage and leadership," and because Franklin D. Roosevelt's silence on the bonus menace economic recovery.

The former president appealed for the re-election of his own successor last night in an address to a cheering throng at Madison Square Garden and a vast unseen audience.

"I am convinced," he concluded, "that the public welfare requires that he be re-elected."

Coolidge, in his own calm, droll manner, attacked Democratic policies, and Democratic leadership; he accused Franklin Roosevelt, without naming him, of prolonging the depression by failing to speak against the bonus.

The former president roused his listeners to laughter by his terse quotations from Grover Cleveland against reciprocal tariffs; he referred to the "forgotten man" of the Roosevelt speeches as the "ordinary run of people," he injected by reference a criticism of Roosevelt and his costly education. He said President Hoover "never was carried into political office by the way of family influence."

Coolidge came to the aid of his

NEW CONSTITUTION FOR GERMANY SEEN

MUNICH, Oct. 12.—(UP)—Draft of a new constitution for Germany, providing that the "government (the cabinet) and parliament will be managing the affairs of the state" is being prepared, Chancellor Franz von Papen told a delegation of Bavarian industry here today.

The cabinet is determined to reshape the country's state and economic life, Von Papen said, and "we have both the will and the power to do so."

The chancellor dissolved the reichstag recently under violent protest from the Nazi-Nationalist opposition. The opposition claimed that he acted after a misconfidence motion had been voted, reading the government out of power.

NEW YORK FACING FINANCIAL STRESS

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—(UP)—Financial problems worried New York City and New York state today. The city faced insolvency for the second time within the year, and the state coped with the possibility of a $100,000,000 deficit.

The world's richest city, whose tax roles in palmer days yielded many millions, had only $14,000,000 to pay expenses until December 10 when new tax payments are due. Unless drastic economies are affected, it will not last.

In Albany, the state senate finance committee wrestled with the prospect of a deficit. Charles J. Hewitt, chairman, said the state budget would have to be "slashed to the bone" if a record deficit in 1933 is to be avoided.

ANOTHER SHAKEUP IN STATE DEPARTMENTS LOOMS TODAY

Farmers In Iowa Will Burn Corn

Greatest Crop in History of State Brings But 26 1/2 Cents Bushel

DES MOINES, Ia., Oct. 12.—(UP)—Farmers of Iowa today looked down the long corn rows which will yield them the greatest crop in the state's history, and wondered what can be done to turn the bounteous harvest of more than a half billion bushels into money to pay off farm mortgages.

December corn was quoted on the Chicago market at 26 1/2 cents a bushel. There appeared little likelihood any profit would remain after two cents a bushel was paid for husking the crop. Many local elevators are bidding only 10 to 15 cents a bushel for new corn.

Faced with this great crop—the first time Iowa's corn has outstripped the 500,000,000 bushel figure—farmers contemplated several methods by which they can add to their return.

The greatest single consumption will be in cattle feeding. Federal and farm organization authorities predicted 80 percent will be fed to hogs. The other 100,000,000 bushels may be allowed to rot in the fields, or gathered into the cribs to be shovelled into kitchen stoves during the winter.

Old-timers who remembered other winters back in the 80s recall that corn cobs make a lively and warm fire suitable for cooking and heating, that the cobs are the melowest of all pipe smokers, and in drastic circumstances the silk can be dried and smoked in lieu of tobacco. With some of the 1931 crop still in the cribs, and farmers with little or no cash in their pockets to buy coal or wood, the possibility of corn as fuel and the winter's smoking supply was being considered on many farms.

In more than a score of Iowa cities, women's guilds have been organized to put on canning bees with the men folk as guests. Those bees, the women say, will provide merry evenings this autumn and save the cost of entertainment elsewhere. The canned vegetables will be distributed to the unemployed and needy families.

SENATOR BORAH CANDIDATE FOR CLAIMS DOLLAR GOVERNOR OF MISSOURI DIES

BURLEY, Ida., Oct. 12.—(UP)—Senator William E. Borah, progressive leader and chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, declared here last night that the drastic domestic legislation and international readjustments must be enacted before the worldwide depression can be brought to an end.

Speaking at a political meeting here, the fiery Idahoan recommended:

- 1.—Remonetization of silver.
- 2.—Worldwide 50 percent reduction in armaments.
- 3.—Cancellation of war debts if the armament cut became reality.
- 4.—Legislation to "reduce the problems and overwhelming debt of the American farmer."
- 5.—Immediate economy in government to counteract the "waste and extravagance of public money which approaches a national crime."

Borah reaffirmed his stand against war debt cancellation under present conditions.

"However, if silver were monetized, if armaments were reduced 50 percent so that European people could again enter into active labor and engage in constructive work and open markets to the American farmer and manufacturer, I would not hesitate to give them the American debt," he declared.

The American dollar today, Borah said, is dishonest.

"A great deal is said about an honest dollar," he said.

"That is what we desire. But I contend that a dollar which takes three times as much wheat, four times as much cotton, three times

BOTTOM LANDS IN ARIZONA FLOODED

YUMA, Ariz., Oct. 11.—(UP)—Several thousand acres of rich bottom land lay under water today as reclamation officials began estimating the damage done by collapse in several spots of the Pichacho reservoir dam.

Damage would not be as large as was at first feared, it was said. The main canal irrigating the Bard section of the Yuma irrigation project, which was swollen to overflowing proportions when the dam burst, was carrying the surplus water away rapidly, and there were indications that the overflow from its banks would not spread unless last Saturday's record rain was duplicated.

Tentative estimates of damage to alfalfa and cotton and lettuce crops were placed at several thousand dollars.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 12.—(UP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt will make major campaign speeches in St. Louis, Pittsburgh and Baltimore on his 3000 mile campaign tour into the south and border states starting Oct. 18.

The governor said he had not yet determined the subject of his speeches.

Francis Wilson, Democratic nominee, passes away in Kansas City

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 12.—(UP)—A call for a special meeting of the Democratic state committee to select a successor to Francis M. Wilson as the Democratic nominee for governor will be issued here tomorrow, Ruben Hulen, chairman of the committee, announced today.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 12.—(UP)—Francis M. Wilson, Democratic nominee for governor of Missouri, died unexpectedly here today.

Though injured in an automobile accident several weeks ago, he was believed on the way to recovery.

A heart attack was the cause of Wilson's death, it was said at his home here. Physicians said injuries suffered in the taxicab accident were not a direct cause of death.

Wilson died at his home here at 9:15 a. m.

Wilson was 65 years old and had been a political figure in Missouri for many years. He was a graduate of Vanderbilt and Centre colleges.

He was Democratic nominee for governor in 1928, leading his ticket by 59,000 votes but failing to overcome the general Republican landslide. This year with the backing of the Kansas City Pendergast organization and support in other sections, Wilson had hoped to become governor.

In the Democratic primaries last summer he carried 110 of the 114 counties of the state. As the Democratic primary vote was heavier than that of the Republicans, supporters of Wilson believed he was destined to end the 12 year sway of the Republican party in state politics.

Rolph Still Seeking To Fill Office

Comes to Southland in His Search for Director of Public Works

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Oct. 12.—While Governor Rolph was in Los Angeles today, looking for a new state director of public works, rumors of another possible shakeup in the executive cabinet flew thick and fast in the capital today.

Before leaving by airplane for the south, Rolph flatly denied that he had any intention of removing Rolland A. Vandegrift, state director of finance, but voiced high praise to two men who had been suggested for Vandegrift's job.

These were Ray L. Riley, state controller, and Friend W. Richardson, former governor and now state building and loan commissioner.

Rolph admitted that Riley's name had been suggested to him as director of finance, but said no offer had been made.

"Mr. Riley is a fine man, a highly trained financier, and a capable executive," the governor said.

The governor denied published reports that his advisors in San Francisco had offered the finance post to former governor Richardson.

Controller Riley himself declined to answer a direct question as to whether he had been approached on the position.

"I'll answer that question when and if the appointment is offered," he said.

John R. Quinn, Los Angeles supervisor and formerly national commander of the American Legion, will be the first person to be offered the $10,000-a-year directorship of public works, it was believed by observers at the state capitol.

THREE LOSE LIVES; MANY ARE INJURED

Trenches and Barricades Erected in Streets of Irish City During Day

TRUCKS ARE LOOTED

Royal Fusiliers Equipped With Machine Guns Are Brought From Garrison

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Oct. 12.—(UP)—Rioting between police and unemployed mobs estimated to number 10,000 persons was resumed shortly before noon today after a day and night of wild disorder in which three men were killed and scores injured.

Trenches and barricades were erected in the streets where hand to hand fighting occurred. Police and armored cars were rushed to the Falls road area to disperse a large crowd. Police were stoned and several shots were fired.

Milk, bread and coal trucks were looted in Lancaster street. Loaves of bread were thrown in the streets. Milk bottles were smashed in the gutters.

Forty additional arrests were made during the morning. The main rioting centers will be placed under curfew at 10 p. m. tonight and the remainder of the city at 11 p. m.

The lord mayor conferred with workers' representatives regarding work on further relief for the unemployed, whose demonstrations against reductions in the dole started the rioting.

Several truckloads of royal Irish Fusiliers equipped with machine guns were brought into the city from the nearby garrison of Hollywood, where they are normally stationed. The garrison will be relieved on Friday by the Second King's Royal Rifles, which will arrive from England in the course of routine military relief.

British officials explained there was no troop movement contemplated, the arrival of the King's Rifles being purely a coincidence, having been arranged some time ago.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 12.—(UP)—Quarantine orders were in effect today against two Southern California aviaries, while state health authorities sought to stem the spread of psittacosis, or "parrot fever," from which several persons in Madison, Wis., were reported suffering.

Dr. Giles S. Porter, director of the state department of public health, quarantined the Horne and Los Angeles bird store, after he was informed by Madison authorities that a shipment of birds recently had been received there from Southern California.

He also asked that the birds be sent from Madison to the Hooper foundation in San Francisco for examination.

ROADS IN IMPERIAL VALLEY DRYING UP

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 12.—(UP)—The Imperial Valley of California, deluged over the week end by a two and one-half inch downpour, equivalent to a full year's rainfall, was rapidly drying out today. Highways again were opened to traffic.

A renewal of yesterday's summer weather, with the temperature reaching 90 degrees, was expected in Los Angeles.

An area of high pressure over Nevada, coupled with extremely low humidity, was responsible, Ray L. Fisher, meteorologist, reported.

CLAIMS GIRL DID NOT PLAN SUICIDE

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 12.—(UP)—Dorothy Millette, red-haired mystery woman in the life of Paul Bern, Hollywood movie director, had no intention of committing suicide when she left San Francisco on a river steamer for Sacramento, it was declared by officials here today.

The belief was expressed by Chester F. Gannon, attorney for Herman A. Koch, public administrator, who is trying to save a portion of Bern's estate for relatives of Miss Millette.

Gannon received Miss Millette's effects from San Francisco, and disclosed she had taken a pair of shoes to a repair store, had them reholed, and ordered them sent collect to her hotel room on the same day she bought a round trip ticket to Sacramento.

"That was not the act of a person who intended to commit suicide," said Gannon.

EDITORS URGE JOHNSON BACK G. O. P. TICKET

Southern California Publishers Send Telegram to U. S. Senator

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 12.—(UP)—United States Senator Hiram Johnson was urged today to make a public statement of his support of the Republican national ticket, in a telegram signed by many Southern California newspaper editors and publishers.

The telegram was framed and sent upon motion of E. P. Clarke, publisher of the Riverside Press and Enterprise, following a conference of publishers and editors with Louis B. Mayer, chairman of the Republican State Committee.

Political observers pointed out that the Democratic forces are hopeful that Senator Johnson will aid Governor Roosevelt by refusing to openly support President Hoover.

When Governor Roosevelt visited California, messages of high esteem and good will passed between the presidential candidate and California's senior senator.

The text of the telegram sent by the editors and publishers follows:

"Representatives of 70 Southern California papers, men and women in conference here, decided to urge you to issue a statement in support of the Republican national and state tickets. You were elected as a Republican four years ago and on the same ticket with President Hoover.

"An emphatic declaration from you in support of the Republican campaign at this critical time in the campaign would have an important influence on the results and might be the determining factor in carrying California for the Republican party."

COUNTY PARK AND HOSPITAL COMPLIMENTED

Yesterday was "praise day" as far as the board of supervisors were concerned. Two letters were received complimenting the county and board, one on possession of Irvine park and the other on care given a patient at the county hospital. As far as business was concerned there was but little immediate business. Two supervisors were absent, Willard Smith being on his vacation, and George Jeffrey at Gilman Hot Springs.

E. W. Pierce of Los Angeles sent a letter to the supervisors complimenting the county on possession of Irvine park which he described as "the finest natural park in the state."

Mrs. Rosella A. Morse, recently a patient in the county hospital, in a letter to the board, said that while at the hospital she was accorded such care and attention that she felt it her duty to write and thank the board for making such attention possible. She spent more than two months in the hospital and said that at all times the doctors and nurses were attentive and considerate.

The board adopted a resolution authorizing advertisement for bids for the extension of West Fifth street to Sunset Beach. The last time the project was advertised all bids were rejected when the lowest bidder failed to give assurance of his responsibility.

Transfer of $500 was made from the third district road fund to be used in river protection work along the banks of the Santa Ana river west of Anaheim. Each year it is necessary to build protective levees along the banks before the rainy season gets under way.

Don't Drive a COLD in!

Drive It OUT With a Remedy That Gets At It From The Inside!

Treat a cold quickly, but intelligently! Remember, a cold is a germ attack—an internal infection—and, as such, calls for internal treatment. Don't attempt to knock a cold merely with local or outside applications. External treatments can't reach the seat of the trouble and can't prevent the infection from spreading within the system.

Don't attempt, either, to relieve a cold with a cure-all. A cold is a cold and calls for a COLD remedy. A preparation that's good for all kinds of ills and ailments besides colds can't be equally effective for colds. Many people take remedies that actually make a cold more difficult to relieve because these remedies are constipating and also make the system acid.

The thing to take for a cold is Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine! As your doctor will undoubtedly tell you, he couldn't write a better prescription for a cold if he wanted to.

4 Important Effects!

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is prompt and decisive relief for a cold because it does four important things.

First, it opens the bowels, gently but effectively—the first step in routing a cold. Second, it kills the cold germs in the system, drives out the poisonous infection and reduces the fever. Third, it relieves the headache and that grippy feeling. Fourth, it tones the entire system and fortifies it against further attack.

No Bad After-Effects

Grove's Bromo Quinine contains no narcotics and is absolutely safe to take. It produces no bad after-effects. It does not upset the stomach, nauseate, or make the head ring or swim. Its safety, as well as its effectiveness, has made it the standard cold tablet the world over.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine comes in handy, pocket size boxes, cellophane wrapped and is sold by every drug store in America. A few of the tablets taken promptly on catching cold will usually expel the cold overnight and banish the danger of its settling in your system. Therefore, at the first sign of a cold, take Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. A wise measure is to keep it within reach all winter. Be suspicious of any dealer who tries to sell you a substitute.

CORONER HOLDS DEATH SUICIDAL

Coroner Earl Abbey yesterday afternoon issued a death certificate in the case of Edna Belle Maxwell, 24-year-old Garden Grove girl who took a dose of strychnine at her home Sunday morning.

Death was caused in a suicidal manner, according to coroner's report.

Ill health for the past several months was given by Abbey as the reason why Miss Maxwell desired to end her life. She drank the poison and then rushed to her parents in another room and informed them of what she had done.

A doctor was called and her stomach was pumped out but not in time to save her life.

Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. yesterday at the Harrell and Brown funeral parlors, the Rev. George Warner, pastor of the First Methodist church here officiating. Burial was made in Fairhaven cemetery.

Smith, 72 years old, was a member of the senate from 1907 until 1916. Previous to that time he served seven terms in the national house of representatives. Following his retirement from public life and politics, he held offices in various business enterprises. At the time of his death he was president of the Herald Publishing company, publishers of the Grand Rapids Herald, and chairman of the board of the Grand Rapids Savings bank.

EXPLAINS COMPASS VARIATION

If Christopher Columbus had followed his compass instead of his better judgment in 1492, the famous Van der Lyn painting reproduced at lower left would have showed him landing in South America instead of the West Indies. So says Professor T. J. J. See, right, U. S. Navy astronomer, and the map at upper left shows why. The magnetic pole slowly shifts back and forth across the top of the world, and 440 years ago it was far from its present location. Tracing Columbus' route from Genoa, it can be seen that the compass first would point slightly east of the true north; past the Azores it would point exactly north, and farther on the voyage would swing a little west of north.

ANNOUNCES DISCOVERY OF CAUSE OF VARIATION OF EARTH'S MAGNETIC POLE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 12.—If Christopher Columbus hadn't had the good judgment practically to disregard his compass and steer his course by the sun and the North Star after he passed the Azores, he might have landed in South America instead of landing on an island in the West Indies just 440 years ago today.

For his compass seemed to go haywire, after exhaustive search into a problem which had baffled natural philosophers for years.

Bewildering and complicated to the layman, the following explanation of the phenomena was given: "As everyone knows, there is a north pole and a magnetic pole. The former is under the North Star. It is the latter, in Northwest Greenland, to which the compass points. Navigators know this and compensate for it. "But when Columbus sailed away from Europe not so much was known about the subject as now. True, Columbus knew that his compass needle pointed slightly east of true north; it had always done so since compasses had been introduced in Europe, which wasn't so very long before.

"As Columbus sailed westward, this eastern variation diminished. Just beyond the Azores it reached the point of 'no variation.' The needle began to point west of true north—and things began to happen.

Gives "Explanation" "Imagine the admiral's surprise and the alarm of his superstitious and unlettered sailors," says Professor See, "when they found the compass needle of the Santa Maria deviating to the west of north. Under the alarm of the sailors, which bid fair to develop into open mutiny, Columbus had to resort to an explanation to calm the fears of the restless men. He told them that the compass was acting all right, but that the Pole Star had shifted a little from its usual place."

But Columbus secretly put more faith in the stars and the sun than he put in this new-fangled contraption, so he continued to steer his course by the former and went on to the West Indies. Had he followed his compass course—and compensated, as he therefore, for an instrument pointing slightly east of true north (when it was now pointing slightly west of true north)—he would have gone far south of his course and landed in South America.

The magnetic pole, roaming around its elliptical path, requires 540 years for a complete trip, Professor See has found. It circulates clock wise in a radius of about 13 degrees, though the path is elliptical, the diameters varying by about three degrees.

It is so shifting that at the present time London has a west variation of about 12 degrees. This is now rapidly decreasing and by 1950 it will vanish and Western Europe will again have an eastern variation, as it did in Columbus' day.

NEW POLICY AT WEST COAST IS ANNOUNCED

With the announcement made today that Eddie Graham, formerly of San Diego, has taken over the management of the Fox West Coast theater here, a new policy has been adopted which according to Graham, will bring bigger screen productions to the theater. At the same time, it was announced that vaudeville will play in the house three days each week, instead of two, beginning this week, vaudeville and a late production to be on the program each Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

On Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, the theater will play two feature pictures, both first runs. Another change in policy is noted in the grade of pictures which has been selected for the West Coast theater in the future. Bigger productions, many of which were scheduled for the Broadway theater have been transferred to the West Coast. Some of the ones scheduled in the near future are: Wheeler and Woolsey in "Hold 'Em Jail," Ruth Chatterton's newest picture and the new latest production by John Barrymore. At the present time the theater is playing "Downstairs," now "comeback" film for John Gil-

Dons Seek Home Game For Saturday

WHITTIER ASKS CANCELLATION OF GAME HERE

Schedule conflicts delaying him in early season practice arrangements, Coach Bill Cook today was in search of a football team willing to play his Santa Ana Junior college Dons at Poly field Saturday afternoon.

Everything was definitely arranged with Coach "Chief" Newman to send his Whittier-Occidental game here this week, but after reconsideration the Whittier coach yesterday requested the game be cancelled.

"I have only about 45 candidates available for the Whittier-Occidental game in the Pasadena Rose Bowl Saturday, and I feel that at least 30 of these men will be needed. Then, too, since this is Whittier's first conference game, I should prefer that all my candidates be in suit," Newman told Cook over the phone.

Pasadena, the junior college with a bye in the Western division this week, meets Ventura at Ventura Friday night. All other Southern California junior colleges, with exception of Brawley and El Centro, have conference games scheduled. Brawley and El Centro are too small and too distant for consideration.

Urban school, Los Angeles, which defeated Glendale Jaycee 6 to 0 last Saturday, was thought a suitable opponent for the Dons, but Cook found that Urban plays Santa Barbara this week. Arrangements with Black-Fox, another Los Angeles institution, also were unsuccessful.

Provided some Southern Conference team cannot send a group of reserves when requested today, Coach Cook indicated that a game with the U. S. S. Lexington, or some other navy eleven, probably would be sought. He was to ask the University of Redlands first, then Occidental, then Pomona.

The junior college needs a game here Saturday for two reasons: (1) because of practice; and (2) the finances would be highly welcome. With Coach "Tex" Oliver's Santa Ana Hi eleven in San Diego, there will be no home football for Santa Ana fans unless the Jaycee finds a game.

No matter whom the Dons play Saturday, Coach Cook has made up his mind to use, for a game at least, those candidates who did not see much action against Santa Bernardino. Bill McDaniels, flashy red-head from Stanford, was quite impressive in drill yesterday, and may start at quarter instead of Harold Welty or Bill Bouldin.

STANFORD FROSH TO MEET BRUIN BABES

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 12.—(UP)—Attempting to score two wins in as many years, the University of California at Los Angeles freshman gridgers combat the Stanford first year men Saturday afternoon at Westwood.

"Chuck" Winterburn, Stanford coach, journeys southward with the strongest frosh team in the university's history. In their first four contests, the Papooses amassed 137 points to 7 of their opponents. Included in their string of victories is the scalp of Fresno State freshman, 34 to 0. They blanked Glendale 18 to 0, ran roughshod over Taft junior college 66 to 0, and last Saturday took San Mateo 19 to 0.

LOYOLA WILL PLAY SUNDAY GRID GAME

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 12.—Sunday football will get its first real tryout in Los Angeles when the University of San Francisco meets Loyola university at Wrigley field Sunday afternoon, Oct. 30.

Loyola, one of the few undefeated teams to date, defeated San Francisco a year ago and will be favorite to win again this year. Many football fans claim they do not like night football and the Sunday game will give them a chance to see the contest under the sunlight.

More than 100 Indiana university students participated in intramural sports during the 1932 spring season, which proved to be the most extensive and interesting ever held at the Hoosier school.

BRUSHING UP SPORTS .. By Laufer

MEXICAN SPEED STAR TO MAKE DEBUT AT BOWL

For several years, twelve to be exact, Bert Colima, Whittier Mexican, was the pride and joy of the Latin colonies of the Southland who attended boxing bouts. When the game was in a slump the promoters called on Bert and the fans came in droves.

Now the motorcycle racing officials at the Santa Ana Municipal Bowl have hit on a similar idea—an idol of Mexican speed fans.

Johnny Valenzuela, a Los Angeles Mexican youth, 22 years of age, steel-nerved and winking to carve his name with rubber on the speedway, is the nominee.

Johnny will appear on Friday night's card here and, unless all signs fail, several hundred supporters of his nationality will be on hand.

Heretofore Mexican motorcycle riders have known to be among the world's greatest stunt men—but never was a racer produced. The Mexican Motorcycle Cossacks were one of the greatest daredevil stunt acts ever to perform in this country and so great were their feats and so dangerous their undertakings, that three were killed. However, not one of the Cossacks was a racing star.

Now Valenzuela comes to the front. In addition to his ability as a competitive rider, he is said to be one of the most colorful young ones of the lot.

And "color" is what appeals to Mexican fans. They say Johnny, when toying a race, looks almost as impressive as when winning. Which is some sort of paradox and difficult to understand. He is claimed to possess that indescribable class that sticks out all over him, using Elder's broadside on the corners plus an intrepidity lacking in veterans and predominant in the young blood.

LELIVELT SIGNS TO LEAD ANGELS AGAIN

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 12.—(UP)—Jack Lelivelt today prepared to pilot the Los Angeles baseball club for another year. Lelivelt has managed the team since 1929, specializing in the development of young players.

One of his major accomplishments was to transplant George "Buck" Stainback from Fairfax high school to Wrigley field where he proceeded to startle the league with a .353 batting average in his first year of professional baseball. Lelivelt succeeded Marty Krug in the middle of the 1929 season.

FOOTBALL BRIEFS

(By United Press)
LOS ANGELES—The U. S. L. A. gridiron warriors, presenting a crippled appearance, will leave at 6 p. m. today for Portland where they engage Oregon university Saturday. Nine members of the squad were excused from the hospital to make the trip.

LOS ANGELES—Confident that victory in their game Saturday with Loyola is a foregone conclusion, the University of Southern California Trojans today held secret drills in sharpening their axes for Stanford next week.

The Lions, refusing to be bluffed by Troy's self-assurance, concentrated their training on offensive plays which they hoped would penetrate the Trojan goal for the first time this season.

Tom Lieb, head coach of Loyola, has compiled one of the most remarkable records of any coach in the country. He is serving his third year at Loyola and during the time in only one game has more than one touchdown been scored against his Lions. Santa Clara scored five touchdowns in its first year. Loyola, however, has no other game has a team been able to score more than once.

PALO ALTO—Believing the West Coast Army team may cause his Stanford Indians trouble, Saturday, Coach Glenn Warner has decided not to personally scout Southern California this week-end.

BERKELEY—Hoping to throw his strongest offensive against Washington, Coach Bill Ingram plans to start Hank Schaidach, Phil Klein, Gus Castro and Jimmy Keefe in the California backfield. Schaidach, returning from injuries, probably will alternate with Arleigh Williams and Lee Vallanos.

SANTA CLARA—With four regulars out because of injuries, Santa Clara today resumed practice to day to prepare for their encounter with the San Diego Marines. Two weeks hence, Joe Pascoe, fullback; Anton Judnich, left half; Vince O'Donnell, half; and Ron Roscoe, right guard, will be shelved for two weeks with injuries.

EUGENE, Ore.—Mike Mikulak, powerful Oregon fullback, may be on the sidelines Saturday when the Webfoot plays U. S. L. A. at Portland. His injured leg and shoulder need more rest, his doctor reported to Coach Phil Callison.

VALE COACH BENCHES 7 VETS IN SHAKEUP

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 12.—(UP)—Yale's football coaches have expressed their dissatisfaction with the blue team which was deadlocked by Bates and Deago by ordering the most drastic shakeup Yale has had in years.

In an attempt to build a fighting eleven to meet Brown Saturday, Coach Mal Stevens and his assistants named a new team in which only four starters against Chicago last week remain at their regular posts.

THAT'S UNUSUAL, JOHNNIE
Although he was not a regular on last year's Purdue university football team, John Oehler, center, is captain of the team this year.

PLAN WORKOUT UNDER LIGHTS FOR HIS SQUAD

Preparatory to their first night football game, to be played with Herbert Hoover Hi in San Diego Friday, Santa Ana Hi's squad will hold a leisurely workout under the lights of Municipal Bowl tomorrow night.

The drill will be a light one, and merely for the purpose of acquainting the Saints to the "feel" of the nocturnal sport. Regular practice, of course, will be conducted in the afternoon at Poly field.

Coach "Tex" Oliver will take his complete squad to San Diego but only the first 40 men, to be named after practice Thursday, will be allowed to remain overnight in the southern city. The rest will return to Santa Ana immediately after the contest at Navy field, which is located at the foot of Broadway, near the Santa Fe station. The overnight squad will be put up at the San Diego Army and Navy Y. M. C. A., returning here Saturday morning.

Oliver himself will tarry in San Diego Saturday to personally scout the Alhambra-San Diego game which probably will produce the team to beat for the Coast Preparatory league championship. Santa Ana goes south again October 29 to face San Diego in the stadium.

Four valuable members of the Saint troupe were missing from practice yesterday which featured a vigorous scrimmage between Oliver's reorganized regulars and his second team. Captain "Red" Kidder, fullback, is still ill and confined at his home. Richard White, another fullback, has a charley-horse. Myron Newton and Walt Hendrie, both right ends, are favoring an bruised leg and an injured back, respectively.

With Willard Noe, "Bud" Boyle, Howard Rash and Jack Mitchell excused from the workout because they proved their worth in the Long Beach struggle, the Saints' new first string had extreme difficulty in making any headway against the seconds. Neither could the seconds get anywhere against the "varsity." Clair Prelinger was at quarterback for the regulars and probably will start against Hoover. The other backfield stunts were operated by Herb Duncan, left half; Art Strauss, full, and Floyd Montgomery, right half.

CHRISTY VS. SAVOLDI

LOYALTY CAUSE OF RUPPERT'S BALL SUCCESS

By BILL CORUM
(I. N. S. Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—(INS)—The explanation of Colonel Jake Ruppert's success as a baseball owner is simple. He gets the best and then sticks to it. He believes in loyalty. He rewards success.

Ed Barrow has been the chief executive of his baseball business ever since Ruppert first took cards in the national pastime. In all those years Jake has been in the Yankee offices just twice.

Last year the Colonel decided to embrace the farm system and grow a very few ivory potatoes of his own. He hired George Weiss to handle the affairs of the minor league clubs, particularly Newark. "We want pennants," he told George.

A word to the Weiss is sufficient. They got pennants; they got rhythm.

Newark Won, Too
In the little world's series the Newark Bears were not grist to the mill of the Minneapolis Millers. They beat 'em. So the Colonel won a world's series with the Bears and slapped the Cubs around in the other. That's picking your spots.

Miller Huggins, if he had lived, still would be manager of the Yankees. Huggins was smart, shrewd, competent.

In the early years of his association, Ruppert had to see Huggins through some dark spots along the road. Some of his large ball players thought the little Miller was too small physically to amount to much. Once they were going to throw him bodily off a speeding train. Perhaps his life wasn't really at stake in the situation, but his certainly was. Many thought he was about to join the unemployed, of which we fortunately had very few at that particular time.

Defended Late Miller Huggins
Ruppert ordered the ball players to be in the clubhouse at a certain hour on a certain day. They were there. So was I. The Colonel arrived.

"Where's Meusel? Where's Ruth? Where's Ward?" Thus he checked over the names to make sure nobody would miss what he was going to say. Then he said it:

"Miller Huggins is the manager of this ball team. Miller Huggins is going to remain the manager of this ball team."

Miller Huggins continued as manager of the Yankees. I don't know how many pennants and world's series he won after that, but, then, I always was poor at figures.

Yesterday the Colonel signed Joe McCarthy to a three-year contract at a salary of $40,000 a year, there or thereabouts. The explanation of Ruppert's success as a baseball owner is simple. He gets the best, sticks to it.

MCCARTHY SIGNS 3-YEAR MANAGER'S CONTRACT
NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—(UP)—Joe McCarthy, who has just signed a new three-year contract as manager of the New York Yankees at a "substantial salary increase," feels content Babe Ruth will be his club's right fielder in 1933.

--BUT TROJAN COACH EXPECTS TEAM TO WIN

BY WALLACE RAWLES
(I. N. S. Sports Writer)
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 12.—(INS)—Jones fears Stanford!

But he expects to win! Speaking frankly about the Stanford-University of Southern California game at Palo Alto, Oct. 22, Coach Howard Jones of the Trojans said today:

"We have no edge on Stanford. Whether Stanford has an edge on us is something I can not say. We will have tough going, I know that."

"We'll probably win, but it's going to be a tough game and the margin will be much closer than the last two years."

U. S. C. beat Stanford 41 to 12 in 1930 and 19 to 0 last year.

May Decide U. S. Honors
Result of this year's game may determine the Pacific Coast's nominee for National football honors won by Stanford through victories over Stanford, California, Notre Dame, Tulane and other teams last year.

Jones does not share public opinion that Stanford has an edge this year and will win. He believes that when the Trojans start "hitting on all six" a different team will result from that which played—and defeated—Washington State.

Loyola university meanwhile unbeaten and untied this year hoped to upset the Trojans in the game here Saturday, but Jones did not seem particularly worried over the outcome for El Trojan.

Strong on Defense
"Our team this year is quite on a par defensively with any I have ever coached at the University of Southern California," Jones said. "I may be wrong, but the team seems as good defensively as any I've ever sent against."

We have not been scored on yet. The line has held well, and the backfield defense against passes and running plays so far has been impregnable."

Jones inaugurated secret practice yesterday.

The varsity went through scrimmage against Stanford's pet formations, with Jorgensen back at center on the first team.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 12.—(UP)—Wesley Ketchell continued his march up the ladder that leads to fame and fortune in the heavy-weight ranks last night by pounding out a five-round technical knockout victory over Sandy Garrison Casanova of Los Angeles at the Olympic.

McCarthy was reluctant to discuss possible changes next season in the Yankee. "But that doesn't mean we won't try to strengthen the club as much as possible," he concluded.

HOOKS & SLIDES

Several weeks ago, when it was rumored that Connie Mack was about to break up that great ball club that had just its spark, it was announced by the management of the A's that "any changes to be made would be constructive."

Forthwith, Mr. Mack peddled Al Simmons, "Mule" Haas and Jimmy Dykes to the White Sox in consideration of a sum guessed at all the way from $75,000 to $150,000. It may be a constructive measure to sell a guy like Simmons who, in a slump year, hit .325 and drove in 145 runs, but the only team I think it is constructive for is the Chicago White Sox.

Simmons this year, slump and all, was the third best hitter-in-of-runs in the league, only Fox and Gehrig having an edge on him. Mr. Simmons also in his bad year hit 34 home runs, in which he was third to Messrs. Fox and Ruth.

HOW'S THAT, AGAIN?
Mr. Simmons once told me his real name. As I remember it the monicker is Elroy Szymanski. I may have left out a couple of z's, but that's just about it, anyway.

Alojzy won't be 30 until next May, and has a lot of good baseball left in his hide (for which the White Sox will have to pay him, by the way, at the rate of about $1000 for each year of his life). His contract with the A's was for $33,000 a year, and it has another year to run.

He is a kid from Milwaukee who simply learned how to hit a baseball better than any other kid in Milwaukee. As a boy he was a messenger in a shoe factory. During the war (he was barely in his teens) Alojzy went to work in an airplane motor factory. Twelve years ago he was given a chance to play right field for the Right Laundry team. In his first game he smacked two homers, and Alojzy went on to assist materially in winning the amateur championship that year.

DROPS LINE TO CONNIE
About 10 years ago Al wrenched a knee while playing football (just to further his education) at Stevens Point, Wis., Normal school. He went home, and wrote a letter to Connie Mack.

"Dear Mr. Mack," wrote Alojzy. "I am an amateur ball player in Milwaukee and have played with the Right Laundry, Juneau, Stevens Point and Iowa teams. I would like to have a tryout with the Philadelphia Athletics because I have heard and read so much about them and you. If you take me south with you, I am sure I can make good."

Mr. Mack wrote that he was very sorry. And he was sorrier than that two years later when he had to plunk down $50,000 for Alojzy's services.

HITS ALL WRONG
From the artistic standpoint, Alojzy never should have been able to hit a baseball at all. It is accepted baseball style to "step into" the apple, it being explained by the graybeards of the game that in this manner a batsman can bring all his power into play.

But Simmons always batted with one foot "in the bucket," which is the expression characterizing a player who pulls away from the plate as if frightened.

He was all wrong, of course, but he could hit that way, and it never made any difference to Alojzy whether he hit 'em wrong or right so long as they went over the garden wall.

SPORTS BULLETINS
BROOKLYN, N. Y., Oct. 12.—(UP)—Stephen W. McKeever has been elected president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, succeeding Frank B. York, resigned, David Driscoll, business manager of the National league baseball club, announced today.

York's resignation was made because of a "pressure of his legal business" and was accepted "with regret," Driscoll reported.

McKeever was treasurer of the Brooklyn club.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 12.—(UP)—The Chicago White Sox will cut their training schedule to five weeks next spring, arriving at Pasadena March 1, their business manager, Harry Grabner, said today after arriving to look over the training site. Thirty players will report at that time, he said.

"We need a pitcher or two and Louie Comiskey doesn't intend passing up anything good," Grabner said.

PLAN CHAMPIONSHIP AUTO RACE IN NORTH
OAKLAND, Oct. 12.—(UP)—Plans to hold the first National championship automobile race to be held on the Pacific Coast since 1926 were announced here today.

The race, to be held on the Oakland Speedway, will be staged early next month and will be the last A. A. A. sanctioned race this year. The distance has not yet been decided upon.

Fred Frame, Los Angeles, winner of the Indianapolis 500-mile race this year, leads in points for the National championship with 710 and is expected to enter. Bob Carey, Anderson, Ind., 20 points behind Frame, also plans to compete. A victory for either man would assure possession of the National speed title.

A white ball that can be seen much more easily by both spectators and players has come to be used by many amateur and professional basketball teams throughout the United States.

Ralston Hensley, the Chicago Cubs' catcher, wants to be ambidextrous. During the last few weeks of the 1932 season he practiced batting left-handed.

REDLANDS, Oct. 12.—Officials of the Citrus Belt league have ruled Covina out of the league and rearranged their football schedule. Redlands high school officials said today. The rearranged program makes a bye of all Covina games and gives that school an opportunity to schedule any outside game for that date.

GIVES EXPLANATION OF WHY VOTERS DO NOT ELECT PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES

Contrary to the belief that the president and vice-president of the United States are elected by a vote of the people, the nation's two chief executives are elected by the electoral college, it is shown in a special article written for The Register by L. L. Beeman of the Santa Ana Junior college faculty. The voters does not cast his ballot for his or her favorite candidate. The ballot is cast for members of the electoral college.

The method of selecting the electoral college, why this provision was embodied in the Constitution of the United States and how the electoral college makes its selection is set forth in the article which follows:

THE METHOD OF ELECTING THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES

By L. L. Beeman

The people of the United States do not vote directly for president and vice president of the United States. The names of the candidates for president and vice president do not appear on the ballot.

The makers of the Constitution did not think the people were competent to select the best man for president. They feared political parties and tried to prevent political parties ever arising in the United States. They, therefore, provided in the Constitution that the people of the states should select a number of electors who would cast the vote of the state for president and vice president.

They felt the people would be able to choose the ablest men of their own states and these men, called electors, would then choose the ablest man in the nation for president.

Number Determined
Each political party nominates its candidates for president and vice president in national conventions. Then the parties in each state nominate electors in the manner determined by the law of the state.

Each state is allowed as many electors as it has senators and representatives in the United States congress. For example California has 20 representatives in the house and two senators or 22 representatives in congress and is, therefore, entitled to 22 votes in the electoral college. The party in each state then nominates as many electors as the state has electors in the electoral college. In California the Republican, Democratic, Socialist and any other party will nominate 22 electors. The ballot voted will have under the list of candidates for each party the names of the 22 men nominated and pledged it elected to vote for the party's candidates for president and vice president.

Vote For Electors
The voter will then vote for the 22 men of his party. This election is held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November. The group of electors receiving the largest number of votes will be declared elected. The electors are voted upon at large, not by districts. Practically always now-a-days, the party that gets one elector in a state gets all the electors from that state.

It occurs sometimes that the electoral vote from a state is divided. This is due to a mistake on the part of voters in stamping their ballots.

The electors elected in all the states constitute the electoral college. There are 531 members, equal to the total number of sen-are sent to the secretary of state of the United States, directed to the president of the United States senate. One of these lists is sent by mail and one by messenger.

If the president of the United States senate has not received the sealed, signed and certified list of electoral votes from a state by the fourth Wednesday in January and if he can not get a copy from the U. S. secretary of state or from the state secretary of state, he sends a special messenger in person to get the copy filed with the district judge.

Ballots Counted
On the second Wednesday in February the president of the senate opens these returns from the states, in the presence of both houses of congress and counts them. The candidate for president who receives a majority of all electoral votes is declared elected.

If no candidate for president receives a majority of all electoral votes, the house of representatives then proceeds to elect a president from the three candidates receiving the highest number of votes. In this event each state has but one vote. That is the representatives from each state get together and vote and the vote of the state is cast for the candidate receiving the majority of the votes of the representatives from that state.

To be elected a candidate must receive the votes of a majority of the states. To be elected by vote of the electoral college a candidate must receive 266 electoral votes. Failing to receive a majority of the votes of the electoral college, he must receive the votes of 25 states, a majority of the 48 states.

Alternate Procedure
If the house of representatives fails to elect a president by the fourth of March, the date of inauguration, the candidate who has been elected vice president is inaugurated as president.

The candidate for vice president who receives a majority of the electoral votes is elected. If it should happen that no one receives a majority of all the votes cast for vice president the United States senate chooses by ballot one of the two candidates receiving the highest number of votes for vice president.

Since the senate chooses the vice president from two candidates it is not likely that no one will not receive the vote of a majority of the states as in the case when the house of representatives selects the president from three candidates.

Should Death Intervene
If a candidate for president or vice president should die before the electors vote on the first Wednesday in January, the national committee of his party would designate another candidate for the position.

Should it happen that no candidate for president or vice president either had been elected by March the fourth what would be done? There is no provision in the constitution or law covering such a condition. No doubt a special session would be called to make some provision as was done in the contested election between Hayes and Tilden in 1876.

The uselessness of the electoral college was one expressed in an interesting way by Elbert Hubbard in the following words: "The original argument in favor of the electoral college was that the people should not vote directly for the president, because the candidate might live a long way off, and the voter could not know whether he was fit or not. So they let the citizen vote for a wise and honest elector he knew. The result is we all know the candidates for president, but we do not know the electors. The electoral college in America is just about as useful as the two buttons on the back of a man's coat, put there originally to support a sword belt. We have discarded the sword, yet we cling to the useless buttons."

SS-H-H-H!
BUDAPEST—In a short time you should be able to hear a pin drop in Budapest. Prominent citizens have decided to rid the city of noise caused by loudspeakers and street traffic, especially the sounding of automobile horns. They have formed an anti-noise league, and the first step in their campaign has been to secure the cooperation of all inhabitants in reducing noise to a minimum.

Avocado Growers Inspect Carlsbad Plantings Friday

Many avocado growers of Orange county are planning to go to Carlsbad next Friday to study and observe the results of the past year's experiments and investigations on pest and disease control on avocados as conducted by the experiment station.

Growers will assemble at the California-Carlsbad hotel at Carlsbad at 1:30 p.m., and proceed in caravan form to several avocado orchards in that district where treatment plots have been under way.

Dr. L. D. Batchelor, director; Prof. H. J. Quayle, entomologist, and Dr. H. S. Horne, pathologist of the experiment station, will be the principal speakers during the afternoon orchard tour and inspection.

The investigational work was undertaken by the experiment station at the request of the avocado industry, expressed through the avocado department of the farm bureau and the association.

An invitation is extended to all avocado growers to attend this field trip, according to Farm Adviser Harold E. Wahlberg.

Start Plan To Get More Industries For County

TO ASSEMBLE INFORMATION ON RESOURCES

Visiting a vast expansive movement in Orange county with a definite upturn of business and resultant reorganization of industries throughout the United States, Ross Shafer, president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange County, outlined tentative plans for bringing industries to this county at a meeting held last night in the Orange Chamber of Commerce office.

The belief was expressed at the meeting that business has started a comeback and that there is a good opportunity now for this county to obtain industries which are now reorganizing.

A formal motion was adopted asking that W. J. Carmichael, chairman of the industrial committee, head the group which will collect data on the resources of Orange county which will be assembled into a booklet for the information of industries which might consider Orange county for locating.

Suggest County Fund

It was pointed out at the meeting which was attended by committeemen, secretaries of chambers of commerce and officers of the association, that the process of obtaining all the necessary data regarding raw materials available in and around Orange county and other data, would take considerable time and could not be completed at once.

The opinion was expressed that the board of supervisors would create an industrial fund to be used when an industry is contacted that is considering Orange county. The county planning commission will play a definite part in the scheme.

The possibility of developing the harbor at Newport Beach also was discussed. The development, coupled with the many other advantages offered by this county, would entice large industries, it is believed.

Agencies which already exist will be used to further the plan, eliminating the necessity for underwriting and financing the project. A definite organization will be set up to assemble the data for dissemination.

Plan Tri-County Group

At the same meeting plans were discussed to form a council of members from the Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino chambers of commerce to work together for mutual advantages. Representatives of the Associated, including Tom Pickrell, will attend the annual meeting of the Fontana Chamber of Commerce on October 13.

REQUIRE MORE LIBERAL GIFTS TO MEET NEEDS

Santa Ana must accept a much more liberal standard of giving unless it is willing to face some very serious situations here this winter. This is the conclusion which has been reached by the leaders of the Community Chest fund appeal, as a result of a check upon the pre-appeal activities thus far.

"Entirely aside from the human interests of thousands for which the Chest welfare and relief appeal is being made, none of us can afford to permit the calamity to Santa Ana which most certainly will result from failure to attain the full goal of $53,000," W. J. Tway, campaign chairman, said today. "Closing up the Y. M. C. A.; dropping the Y. W. C. A.; eliminating the Boy Scout work; allowing thousands of men, women and children to go hungry; permitting 10,000 empty-pocketed single men to pass through the city in a year without aid—these are some of the possibilities which face us if the Chest goal is not reached."

As the time of the intensive campaign approaches, the chest campaign officials are asking that every citizen give careful thought to the amount it is possible for them to pledge. Subscriptions, it is said, must represent an actual sacrifice if the total goal is to be raised.

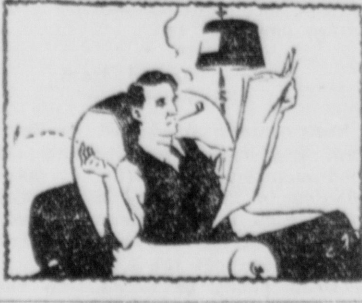

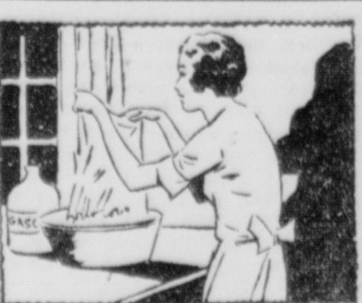

"This campaign is not an ordinary appeal for funds, it is instead a request upon each citizen to meet a truly serious situation," Tway declared. "Other cities are being asked to do much more than are our citizens and they are meeting their obligations, and surely our people are no less able to do so."

Another honor firm employee group has just reported through the establishments division headed by Orlyn Robertson. Employees of the George Dutton company have all liberally subscribed to the chest fund in a total of four times that for the previous Chest appeal.

OFFICIALS AND SCHOOLS JOIN IN OBSERVANCE OF FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

Cooperating with and answering the call of President Hoover in his proclamation setting the current week aside as Fire Prevention week, the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, in cooperation with city fire department officials, has arranged this year to carry on a program similar to the one carried out last year.

Mayor Paul Witmer is giving the full cooperation of his office in the movement to reduce fire waste in Santa Ana.

John Henderson, chairman of the chamber of commerce committee in charge of the program for the week, has definite plans under way for observance of the week.

Contest for Cups

Last year the chamber of commerce put up two silver loving cups as prizes to the school for competitive fire drills. One of the cups was awarded to the Fremont school for winning in the elementary school class and the other was given to Lathrop Junior High school in the junior high school competition. The cups are kept one year by each school that wins.

This year, the fire drills will be in charge of the Santa Ana fire department and will be directed by Captain John Garthe. In addition to the drills, the schools are putting on an educational program regarding fire prevention. Some of them are practicing on plays with fire prevention as the theme. The two junior high school will devote their assembly periods this week to fire prevention when teams from the fire department give demonstrations in rescuing and fire prevention.

Last year Santa Ana won an honorable award for fire prevention work and for having a low loss for fires. The year before this city won an award on the same basis. Henderson attributes the efficient work of the fire department in making constant inspections and eliminating the fire hazards.

Arrange Funeral Of Albert Geimer

Entombment will be in the mausoleum at Forest Lawn Memorial park in Glendale.

Mr. Geimer was 45 years of age and a native of Los Angeles. He leaves his widow, two sisters and one brother.

TUBERCULOSIS HEADS LIST OF DEATH CAUSES

There is no such thing as a "weaker sex" among boys and girls of school age in Orange county, according to Dr. Kenneth H. Sutherland, county health officer who has just completed a survey of death records for the past year, which shows tuberculosis as head of the list in causes of death. A similar survey has recently been completed by state officers.

Both surveys show that although the girls lead the boys in the number of cases of illness, the girls' death rate is approximately 15 per cent less than that of the boys. Dr. Sutherland's report shows that last year there were 80 deaths among children of school age, 5 to 19 years. Of that number 44 were boys and 36 girls.

His study also revealed that more than 27 per cent of the days lost by school children is due to sickness. The remaining 43 per cent is lost through other causes.

The state survey shows that over the entire state accidents are the leading cause of death and that automobile deaths constitute about one-third of all accidental deaths. This is not true in Orange county, however. According to Dr. Sutherland's study, based upon last year's death rate of 80 children between 5 and 19 years of age, there were 23 deaths from accidental causes. Of the accidental death list, automobile accidents easily led. There were 16 boys and seven girls, who accidentally lost their lives during the past year. Of this number 10 boys and six girls died as the result of automobile accidents.

The study conducted by Dr. Sutherland and state officials reveals that children are either becoming more careful of their health or that medical science is improving, as the death rate from all causes among children between 5 and 19 years of age has dropped 44 per cent in the last quarter century.

Dr. Sutherland listed the most frequent causes of death among children, based upon last year's records. Tuberculosis led with 24 deaths. Accidents, responsible for 23 deaths, was second and other causes were: diphtheria, 4; digestive diseases, 4; pneumonia, 3; and heart disease, 3. Miscellaneous diseases were responsible for the other 19 deaths among children last year.

SAYS BEWARE OF PERSONALLY WET CANDIDATE

Declaring that the propaganda distributed against the eighteenth amendment and its enforcement is false, and that the "most vital thing in America today is protection of American people, and keeping the country dry," Perry Mathis, president of the Orange County Strategy Board, talked at the Placentia W. C. T. U. meeting yesterday afternoon.

He earnestly urged that all get behind an organized program to inform the people as to the real purpose of the Wright act repeal proposal, No. 1 on the ballot, and proposal No. 2 on the ballot, which places sale of liquor under state control, provided the Wright act is repealed.

Mathis outlined the policy of the strategy boards, and also told of the danger in electing men to office who are dry "for business and moral purposes, but are personally wet."

"The laboring classes are benefited by prohibition. The difficulty is the social classes," he declared. Quoting Dr. George Warriner, of the Santa Ana Methodist church, he said that the leaders in the anti-prohibition movement are of the "social class that placed the bar in their homes when prohibition was enforced; that have let that saloon in the home get out of control, and now want to throw it back on the public."

Other numbers were a comical musical selection by Al Copeland and a short talk by George Farquhar.

WOMEN THE HOME WEDDINGS FASHIONS HOUSEHOLD

Long Beach Ceremony Unites Couple Well Known Here

Attended by a little group of close relatives and intimate friends, a wedding ceremony of quiet simplicity was performed in Long Beach, Monday, October 10, uniting in marriage Mrs. Eva F. Phillips and W. F. O'Harrow of Tustin.

The home of Mrs. Phillips' daughter, Mrs. Charles Peterson, 725 Maine avenue, in the beach city was the scene of the ceremony, performed at high noon. Dr. George Warner, pastor of the First Methodist church of Santa Ana, officiated.

There were no attendants for the impressive rites, for which Mrs. Phillips was becomingly gowned in a lace frock in a deep rust tone, wearing with it a shoulder corsage of rosebuds and lilies of the valley.

After the service, guests were invited to the dining room where a delicious luncheon was served at a beautifully appointed table. Lavender sweet pastries and roses matching those of the bride's corsage were the flowers used in carrying out the bridal decorations.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Harrow left shortly after luncheon for a two months' trip to the eastern coast and Florida. On their return they will be at home to their many friends in their home at First street and Prospect avenue.

Wedding guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peterson and son, Edward; Mr. and Mrs. H. Greenwood and Will Peterson of Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Phillips of Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. O'Harrow of Tustin; Mr. and Mrs. Otto C. Phillips and son, Jerry Phillips and Mr. and Mrs. D. Forney of Tustin.

Standard Bearers

Indicative of the interest taken in launching the year's work of the First M. E. Standard Bearers, was the attendance of members at the first dinner meeting of the new church year, held Monday evening in the W. D. Finn home, 1224 French street.

Each member of the group contributed some special dish to the dinner menu, while Mrs. Finn, counselor, baked a great pot of beans, made a delectable angel food cake, and prepared a fruit punch for the girls.

The usual business session was held in the evening hours, with Miss Florence Ulrich presiding for the first time since her election to the presidency. Group singing was an enjoyable part of the missionary program.

There were two guests, W. D. Finn who shared the dinner hour, and Miss Ruby Belcher who remained for the entire program. Standard Bearers present included the Misses Florence Ulrich, president; Betty Howell, Margaret Putnam, Virginia Sawley, Ramona Smith, Joy Townsley, Ruth Budd, Genevieve Halderman, Dorothy Grace, Helen Holmes Robb, Marian Bradley, and Mrs. Finn, counselor.

The next meeting will be Monday November 14 with Miss Ramona Smith, 131 South Birch street, with covered dish dinner at 6 o'clock to precede the missionary program.

Quill Penn Anniversary Is Celebrated With Dinner Party

In presiding as dinner hostesses last night to their fellow members of Quill Pen club, Mrs. Roy and Mrs. R. B. Marshall celebrated the seventh anniversary of the club's founding in an unusually happy manner.

Their hospitality was extended in the Winchester home, 414 Harwood place, where dinner was served at 7 o'clock. Three tables were employed, each with its laces, in procession of flickering candles marching with flowers down the center of the board, and its charming crystal and silver appointments. In serving the four-course menu, the hostesses were assisted by Mrs. Frank Was, and by Mrs. Theodore Bolte, a dinner guest.

For the final course, Mrs. Herman Reuter, club president, was privileged to blow out the seven candles and cut the first slice of the decorated birthday cake, which then was served with home made ice cream.

Mrs. Reuter conducted the after-dinner business meeting which was a closed one with several important matters to discuss in preparation for election of officers on Tuesday night, October 25. Reading of original manuscripts opened with Mrs. N. E. Wells' untitled story of a western blizzard and a quite charming romance.

Mrs. Marshall completed the original offerings with a group of poems, including "Ladybug," "The Citation," "Birds," "Via Vitae" and "An Old Cook Book," among other graceful and rhythmic verse.

Everyone was interested in the club's first annual anthology of stories of the current year, bound as a compliment to Quill Pen members, by William Fritcher, son-in-law of Mrs. J. U. Viaw. Sharing interest with this form of present activity, were the minutes of the first meeting, read by the secretary, Mrs. Marshall Harnols. It was held in Mrs. Viaw's home seven years ago, and of the charter members, four were present last night, Mrs. Viaw, Mrs. Marshall Harnols, Mrs. Herman Reuter and Mrs. Blanche Brown.

Others enjoying the hospitality of Mrs. Marshall and Mrs. Winchester were Mrs. J. D. Campbell, Mrs. N. E. Wells, Miss Verna Wells, Mrs. Marshall Harnols, Mrs. Frank Was, Mrs. C. M. McClintock, Miss Dorothy Clarkson, Mrs. Maude Goff, Miss Lella Watson, Mrs. Harry M. Smith and Mrs. Emmett Elliott, together with the dinner guest, Mrs. Bolte.

Mrs. Blanche Brown will be hostess to the club in two weeks, when manuscripts will be due from Mrs. Winchester, Mrs. Reuter and Mrs. Was.

Outstanding among plans disclosed for October and November Ebell activities at Monday's club meeting in Ebell auditorium were those pertaining to the card party to be held under the auspices of the Third Travel section of the club on Saturday afternoon, and the second annual quilt show which the Sixth Household Economics section will stage November 15, 16, 17 and 18.

The former event will be open to members and guests at a small charge, with refreshments and prizes planned, according to Mrs. Samuel W. Nau, Mrs. Helen B. Hell explaining that the quilt show would include this year, a display of handmade rugs. Contributions of both types were urged and a plea also was made for interesting costumes of early periods. A spinning wheel is desired, according to Mrs. Hell, who is being actively assisted by Mrs. G. E. Bruns, section leader. Mrs. L. C. Fairbanks and Mrs. E. E. Keech. Quilts will be accepted Monday, November 14, Ebell meeting day.

Reports were heard from the treasurer, Mrs. L. M. Forney; from Mrs. R. G. Hewitt of the Day Nursery board, and from Mrs. Emrys D. White, announcing the Junior Ebell Carnival dance October 22, and Girls' Ebell dancing classes, to open Friday, October 21, with beginners meeting at 7 o'clock and advanced students at 7:45. A class or section in special exercises will be organized among Ebell clubwomen if desired, Mrs. W. Maxwell Burke, curator, announced. Mrs. Paul Bailey, president and presiding officer, called attention to the Y. W. C. A. musical tea, to be held in the Y. W. C. A. Saturday afternoon. Olinna Enlow Matthews, Ione Tunison Peck, D. C. Clanton, Madame Manuela Budro-Rafferty and Eleanor Young Elliott will take part in this program.

Judge J. B. Tucker pleaded support for the Community Chest, describing the manner of funds apportionment and the worthiness of the organizations assisted.

Third Travel Party and Quilt Show Dominate Ebell Activities

October 9 was a very happy occasion for Emil Larson of this city, whose birthday anniversary was incentive for a family party given by his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Erwin E. Hafer in their home in Glendale. Mrs. Hafer will be remembered as Miss Ada Larson by her many friends here.

Mrs. Hafer used pink and lavender asters in decorating for the chicken dinner served. Centering the table was a pretty white birthday cake centered with 64 glowing candles. The many handsome gifts received by the honored guest included a portable radio.

Those taking part in the family affair were Mr. and Mrs. Emil Larson, Miss Nell Larson, Mr. and Mrs. Noble M. McBride of Ventura and Mr. and Mrs. Hafer. Miss Evelyn Larson of Phoenix, Ariz., was the only member of the group unable to attend.

The calories in each salad will average better than 600. Large amounts of tissue builders are here, as well as the vitamins, et al.

Greenwood Gables Is Setting for Series Of Game Dinners

Autumn's hunting season, always a successful one for B. H. Sharpless, carries also a pleasant sequel for friends of Mr. and Mrs. Sharpless, in the game dinners which have come to be a customary autumn hospitality in Greenwood Gables, the family home on Newport road.

Last night Mr. and Mrs. Sharpless presented the second of such affairs which they have given this year, following the venison dinner of the early evening hours, with an evening of bridge. Tables for serving the game menu were placed amidst a striking setting in which the campfires of a huntman, were simulated with their swinging kettles and their cheery glow. Branches of scarlet-berried cotoneaster suggested the topographical California hills where Nimrod roams, and the whole effect was one of outdoor beauty.

Places were indicated for the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Sharpless, Dr. and Mrs. James E. Paul, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Hermon, Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Burke, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Chenoweth, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Nau, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Zaiser, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Boyer, Mr. and Mrs. Loyal K. King, Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Tutbill, Dr. and Mrs. W. Maxwell Burke, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Smart, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Gowen and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bailey.

The menu was served by Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Marks of La Habra Heights, son-in-law and daughter of the hosts, and by the Misses Violet and Ada Felker, their nieces.

Bridge in the after-dinner hours proved especially profitable for Mr. and Mrs. Hermon, Mr. and Mrs. Royer, and Dr. and Mrs. Maxwell Burke, to whom were awarded prizes for special scoring. The gifts were pieces of pottery, the artistic work of the hostess herself.

Earlier Function

The initial dinner of this autumnal series was also a venison menu served by Mr. and Mrs. Sharpless a few days earlier. Much the same decorative effect prevailed, with table appointments suggesting the open.

Music played a prominent part in the after-dinner interval, when Monroe Sharpless of the music department of Occidental high school sang a number of beautiful solos, with Miss Eva Ramsey as his accompanist. Political discussions provided additional interest.

Guests sharing the enjoyable affair included the Rev. and Mrs. George A. Warner, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Barr, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Theo A. Winbiger, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Davis and Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Burke.

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

Never before, at least in my memory, have women been obliged to wash the corners so closely. I think we are prone to forget that the cost of food doesn't end in the paper-wrapped package.

It goes on, through the round that adds a little of this, some of that to the making, the fuel for cooking, and the cost of serving. With depleted incomes we must not let a single bite go to waste. All of which brings me down to the real business of the day: Making two ham sandwiches grow where one used to.

French Toasted Ham Sandwiches

Take scraps of baked or fried ham and run them through the food chopper. Add sufficient mayonnaise to make very moist, and if the ham is pretty scrappy, you may chop a hard-boiled egg and add to piece out the ham. Spread between slices of bread, dip the bread in beaten egg and milk and quickly fry a golden brown in hot fat, bacon fat preferably. Serve, popping hot, with a pickle relish.

Mothers with school children trooping in for noon lunch, hungry as hunters, will find this a very satisfying luncheon if they serve with the sandwiches a good salad. All youngsters like fruit salad and most of them like the well known Waldorf salad (apples, celery and a few walnut meats).

Panama Salad (Six servings)

2 heads crisp lettuce
12 slices canned pineapple
1 package soft cream cheese
1 cup creamy cottage cheese
Mayonnaise ad lib
Small glass of currant jelly
Paprika-pineapple dressing
With tiny biscuits or small bran muffins, and good coffee, WHAT a luncheon this would make!

The first thing to do is to open the pineapple and drain it, strip the outer leaves off the two heads of lettuce, wash and chill them. Then strip the tin foil off the cream cheese and beat it with a fork, blending with mayonnaise to make it very soft. Add the creamy cottage cheese and set in the refrigerator to chill.

Now well get the salad ready for the table: Hold the head of lettuce firmly and cut in half-inch slices, one for each plate. Spread a slice of pineapple with the cheese mixture cover with another pineapple slice and spread this, too, with cheese, but be sure you haven't filled up the hole.

Arrange on the slice of lettuce and in the hole put a cone of currant jelly. This is done by plunging a teaspoon into the glass, turning it round to bring up the scoop of jelly. Dress the salad with mayonnaise thinned with pineapple and lemon juice. Color with paprika and use enough to look well.

The calories in each salad will average better than 600. Large amounts of tissue builders are here, as well as the vitamins, et al.

THE RECIPE OF THE MONTH, a sumshus relish to be used with meats, with baked dishes and in soups, and one you can make any month in the year, is what you get when you send me your stamped, self-addressed envelope and a "please send me the leaflet offered free this week."

Thursday the recipe will be an all-vegetable soup. Not a speck of meat in it, yet, or so good... good to eat and good for your health.

UNION BEGINS CAMPAIGN TO GET OUT VOTE

ORANGE, Oct. 12.—The final lap in the Orange W. C. T. U. pre-election drive campaign started yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the local union held in the First Presbyterian church, when plans were made for precinct work to be started immediately. This will include house to house canvassing of every voter in the 20 precincts of this community, with members of the Ministerial union and various churches of the city taking part in the work.

Co-incident with campaign plans was the announcement that the Orange Board of Strategy is opening headquarters this week, probably today, in an office near the plaza in Orange. Here, literature and information will be available. There will be some one in the office from 10 a. m. until late in the afternoon, it was announced.

J. A. Nye, independent candidate for state senator, was present at the meeting, giving a short talk in which he urged the group to vote for men who will represent the people as people, not as money interests.

Mrs. Pearl Kendall Hess, of Orange, national W. C. T. U. worker, gave a talk. In this, she praised Abraham Lincoln, whose name is being besmirched by wets, she said. "Prohibition will work a great injury to the cause of temperance," and it has been proved that Lincoln did not make this statement, she said.

Also, Mrs. Hess outlined for members the probable consequences should initiative numbers one and two be passed. The Wright law, California's prohibition enforcement act, must not be repealed, she said. If it should be repealed and measure No. 2 for state liquor regulation passes, then there will be no local option, she explained.

Literature urging the Christian people to vote "No" on these two measures is being distributed by members of the union.

Continuing, Mrs. Hess stated that when 12 out of the then 31 states had adopted a policy of prohibition, Lincoln, in 1855, drafted a bill of prohibition for the state of Illinois. Although this was never enacted into law, it was upheld by Lincoln, Mrs. Hess said.

Reports on the state W. C. T. U. convention held at Santa Barbara were given by Mrs. Hess, Miss Mary Heywood, Miss Carrie Heywood, Mrs. Mary Gross, Mrs. Angeline Courtney and Mrs. Neville.

With Miss Mary Heywood presiding, a ceremony was conducted when flags, denoting special honors achieved in a membership campaign, were presented to Mrs.

Gross, Miss Dutton, Mrs. Neville and Mrs. Hess.

Miss Carrie Heywood spoke briefly, giving statistics showing that the national W. C. T. U. has an average weekly gain in membership of 1000. In the past 10 months, there have been 50,000 new members, she stated.

Mrs. Minnie Neville, president of the union, was in charge of the meeting. Mrs. Clara Sumner, evangelistic director, conducted devotionals and Mrs. J. E. Park led in prayer.

Mrs. E. L. Meyer announced that voters who will be unable to go to the polls in November, may get information concerning absent voters' ballots from her, the local Board of Strategy and other sources.

It was announced that owing to the fact that the Orange Community Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual meeting October 21, the anniversary date would be advanced.

Mathias, Mrs. Jacob Daner, Mrs. Andrew Edwards, Mrs. J. P. Mueller, Mrs. Carl Weiss, and the hostess, Mrs. Koelling.

BOARD HEAD IN TALK ON WORK WITH MEXICANS

ORANGE, Oct. 12.—Progress in the work among the Mexicans of this community and other localities was outlined last night at a meeting held in the First Presbyterian church under the auspices of the Orange Latin-American council. Charles A. Robinson of Long Beach, formerly of Orange, president of the local board, presided.

Speakers were Dr. Vernon McCombs, head of the International Latin-American board of Southern California, and the Rev. Nicholas Davilla, pastor who works with the Mexican people in Orange, El Modena and neighboring communities.

Dr. McCombs stated that the Mexicans are an artistic people, with a natural talent for music. Contrary to popular belief, they are capable of learning music, he said. With the proper training and influence, they are able to go far. He told of how the Rev. Davilla gave up a well-paying position in order to study for the ministry, whose call he had felt for about six months before he finally made his decision.

The Mexican people who become interested in Jesus Christ are serious in their intentions, he continued. They become converted, and accept Him as their personal savior.

In his talk, the Rev. Mr. Davilla told of the progress that has been made in the Mexican mission work here during the past three years. When he first came here, there were about 33 people interested in the work, and now there are over 150 Mexicans actively engaged in the church activities, he said.

Within the past few weeks, a Sunday school has been established in Orange for the Mexicans, he explained. There is also a Sunday school in El Modena. In connection with the church work, there are two young people's clubs, one religious and the other literary. In the latter organization, members take part in study groups and hold general discussions on pertinent topics. There are two women's clubs, one a Bible study group under the direction of Mrs. Joseph Thacker of this city. The Ladies' Aid and the Brotherhood are other organizations connected with the Mexican church work, the pastor brought out.

A daily vacation Bible school for the Mexican children was conducted this year, with an attendance of 55. The attendance last year was 51.

Spanish music was played during the evening. Miss Ruth Frothingham, of Santa Ana, and a group of musicians played selections. Miss Henrietta Armendariz of Santa Ana sang; the Rev. Davilla conducted a chorus of young people, singing the solo part to one of the songs. Mexican from El Modena gave orchestral selections.

The Rev. Alphonso Dominguez, pastor of the Mexican church in Fullerton, led in prayer. The Rev. J. H. Sheerer, pastor of the First Baptist church of this city, closed the meeting.

Beveridge Stead read "The Circus Day Parade," and "Old Trap." Mrs. N. J. Whitney gave "The Prayer Perfect" and "Little Orphan Annie" was read by Lee Easterly. Mrs. Smith read "Raggedy Man," "Beyond Endurance" and "The Bumble Bee."

Culter, who was too ill to be present. Many interesting facts about Miss Wanamaker's Americanization work were brought out. She spends three days a week in El Modena and two days a week in Orange. Miss Wanamaker said that they are canning tomatoes and that she gets as many groups of Mexican women together as possible.

She said that one lug makes 10 quart cans of tomatoes and that the Mexican people call it "fruit." She said that a few string beans had been canned and that the people are adding themselves as far as possible. They are willing and anxious to co-operate and are trying to return any favors received, she said. Miss Wanamaker announced that the goods from the Red Cross had arrived and would be distributed to those who were needy. Tickets are to be given to those who receive the goods and each child is supposed to have two garments. She said that there are more needy American families than people realize.

The president, Mrs. Fay Irwin, presided. The secretary's report was read by Mrs. Smith and the treasurer's report read by Mrs. Carl Conway, showed a balance of $15.50. Plans for reducing expenses were discussed and a conservative program for this year was voted, as the discussion brought out the fact that a number of children would have to be aided. Mrs. Johnson was appointed chairman of the pre-school examination committee.

Plans solos were given by Miss Audrey Hancock and vocal solos by John Skiles, Grapes voice jello, and wafers were served by the committee, of which Mrs. Hancock was chairman.

The sandwiches the Tynmites are eating are fresh and tasted great. The tin man kept on handing them to each one in the bunch.

"They are the best I've ever had," said Scooby, "and I'm more than glad our friend the tinsmith made them. It was quite a thoughtful bunch."

Then Coppy said, "How can we pay him back? Right now we're far away. 'Don't worry,' snapped the tin man. 'He expects no pay from you.'

"He's just a kind old man who does a lot of thoughtful things because he gets a real thrill out of everything he tries to do."

"When I get back to yonder banks I'll tell him that you all sent thanks. Before I leave, may I suggest that you all start to hike."

"You're looking for adventure and I'm sure that it is near at hand. It won't be long till you will start to find things that you'll like."

The Tynmites then shook hands with him and Duncy said, "If you could swim you'd cross the stream real quick, but you'll have to wait a while."

The tin man answered, "That's all right," and soon he walked right out of sight. Said Windy, "Let's start looking round to see what's over here."

Just then a wee voice shouted, "Hey, if you lads want some fun today, just follow me. I'll take you to a wonderful surprise."

"A knowledge bug am I and so I know all that there is to know," The Tynmites then saw a bug of very tiny size.

Said Windy, "Gee, you're very kind." And then they trailed along behind the bug until they found a box. "Hurry!" one Tynmy cried. The bug then said, "It's up to you to do whatever you can do to pry the big lid open, so's to see what is inside."

(The Tynmites pry the lid open in the next story.)

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS AT CHAPEL DINNER

NEWPORT BEACH, Oct. 12.—Over 50 people, including "mystery" mothers and their daughters, and friends, banqueted and enjoyed a program of singing and speaking last night in the Balboa chapel. The chapel was beautifully decorated with yellow and white flowers and the favors and cups were indicative of Halloween.

Mrs. Clyde Colleen, of Pasadena, told about the "mystery" mothers, going back 63 years to the initial organization of the W. F. M. S. in Boston and describing step by step how it had grown to its present size and standing, and how the "mystery" mothers a few years ago became a sort of auxiliary to the parent organization.

Greetings to the daughters were given by Mrs. Emma Stroup and Dorothy Ensign greeted the mothers in behalf of the daughters. The Rev. Russell Stroup gave a talk. Mrs. R. E. Cox, president of the organization, spoke on "Missions," and Miss Myrtle Bartlett, a former missionary to China, spoke on "Your Friends in China."

Robert Dosier of the Viesel studio of Santa Ana, and Fred White, of Newport Beach, both sang. Jeanette Bodeman gave a reading and Jack Trefall gave an accordion solo.

Groups of songs were sung by all present. Mrs. Katherine Baker accompanying at the piano, and the closing song, "Goodnight Mothers," was sung by the daughters.

A 6:30 o'clock dinner was prepared and served by a group of high school boys of the church, directed by Joseph Bodeman.

No Insurance On Wells Destroyed In Field at H. B.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 12.—The Spelk Oil company whose two wells on Nineteenth street were destroyed by fire Monday night, had let its insurance lapse 90 days prior to the fire and the blaze caused a total loss to the company of equipment, it was reported today.

Rates of insurance on oil wells are high. In the closely drilled town of field and many companies have allowed their insurance to lapse, it is stated.

The Standard Oil company water lines proved valuable to the city firemen in the battle with flames at the Spelk wells. Standard Oil keeps its fire water lines under heavy pressure and the city firemen hooked to the Standard water system for their supply for the fire hose. The excellent pressure enabled the men to control the blaze and confine it to the two wells of the Spelk company, although the fire occurred in a veritable forest of oil derricks.

One Sure Way to End Coughs and Colds

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth. Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

EDUCATOR SPEAKS

WINTERBURG, Oct. 12.—"Christianity" was the subject of the address given recently at the Winterburg Methodist church by Prof. Myran Allen, of the Long Beach Junior college. Musical numbers were presented by the Winterburg string quartet composed of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Applebury, Mrs. Eva Friend and Mrs. Martha Matson, who gave two numbers.

HIGH SUMMER by Booth Tarkington

Snoot Enderton more claim to respect than the rest of us? Have we not eyes, ears, limbs and affection? When you prick us, do we not bleed? When you—

"Joe!" Kitty cried, and suddenly laughed aloud. "What on earth are you trying to quote from?"

"Never mind!" he said with unrelaxed intensity, and was far from sharing her merriment. "Never mind! What I'm trying to rouse your brain to understand is this: Outside of his pretty looks and your wrong conception of his family's position, why do you treat Snoot Enderton the way you do? I mean, frankly and openly, outside of those things, what's he got on me? It's he's horribly conceited of me to compare myself to almost anybody else, and I wouldn't do it—not for a minute. What I mean—almost anybody that knew him at college would have considered himself insulted if he'd been asked to compare himself to Snoot! What I mean, why, I'm just explaining myself about not being con—"

"Yes, I think you are!" she interrupted with renewed fierceness. "Shame!"

"Listen!" he said, and groping in a pocket of his coat, produced what appeared to be a clipping from a newspaper. "Listen! I want to read you something he wrote for the University Daily. They let him at himself there for a while, and he had the impertinence to mention your name in one of his effusions. I told him I considered it insulting and—"

"Read it!" Kitty said eagerly.

"I intend to, and if you think any gentleman—"

"Nonsense! Read it!"

"All right, you listen! This is what he had the insolence to publish: 'I dawdled a bit lately over Mendez's new book, Piffle-paffle, I assure you. The result upon me? Salva merely. I wonder if Peggy and Eve will be trying to talk to me of this latest piffle-paffle of Mendez's next summer as I stretch myself on the sand and listen to the sur more than to their voices. I wonder if Kitty—but no, Kitty doesn't talk about books, and there's always several things I like doing better with Kitty than—talk about books. I wonder—But, heigh-ho! a party of one-hundred-percent collegians are singing Alma Mater. Thou somewhere in the next entry. Hot dog! They'll all grow up to be great and good presidents at banquets of the dead old Works! Heigh-ho again! And so to bed.'"

"Well?" Kitty said demurely.

"What?" Astounded, he saw that she was of a heightened color and that she smiled. Even, he thought, she smiled dreamily. My heavens! "What?" he said quickly. "Two been chattering loudly and vehemently at Norris Enderton, who looked amusedly languid, and the thoughtful Kitty, on her way to—"

"I certainly was! He gave me a copy of it a couple of weeks ago, and I've read it over and over; but I let you read it just for the pleasure of hearing it again."

"What!" he cried again. "But don't you understand what he—?"

"Awful subtle, isn't it?" Kitty said admiringly, and added to the apparently paralytic condition of the young man by a caressive little laugh of genuine mirth. "Terribly funny about those hundred-percent collegians, don't you think? Awful clever writing, too; you'd never think he was an amateur. Peg and Eve are sore as boils because there was so much more about me in it."

"My heavens!" Joe said in a whisper. "Why, it's not even grammatical! He's got a singular verb and a plural—"

"Oh, dear me! When will you stop being so tedious? What affair is it of yours, anyhow. Since your own mother thought it was simply one of the cleverest things she ever read, and was perfectly intrigued with it and said she thought Norris was simply too clever, just what affair of yours is it to come exasperating me with your bourgeois, small-minded criticism? Absolutely, Joe Nutter, I think you're all wet!"

This final, fatal phrase seemed to strike him a blow in the chest, which deflated visibly. "You do," he said, after a prolonged stare at her. "Repeat what you just said. I think it'll be enough for me if that's your deliberate opinion of me."

"It is!" she cried hotly. "Absolutely, I think you're all wet!"

For a moment his lips were subject to a slight quivering, but he controlled this tendency, and with a manner not lacking in dignity, "I see," he said quietly. "I've been making myself pretty ridiculous. I'm sorry. I'll keep out of your way from now on. Good-by."

He made to her a queer little bow in which there was something as pathetic as it was also formal and final; then, turning, he left her and went down the garden path, away to a gate that opened upon the road. She stood still; her expression, at first sharply resentful, altered a little as she watched him go down the path, and altered more when he closed the gate and passed from her sight without once looking back at her. She became thoughtful, then grave; her lips parted and her eyes were a little troubled.

Something of this troubled look still showed in them when she returned to the terrace and walked slowly toward a group of young people who were seated upon the farther steps. An obsequious, attendant boy and three girls were there chattering loudly and vehemently at Norris Enderton, who looked amusedly languid, and the thoughtful Kitty, on her way to—in them, hesitated briefly, as if perhaps she had a mind to go elsewhere. Then automatically her expression became perfunctory with animation; she ran forward, already screaming with the laughter of a girl who proves herself to be having a good time, and plumped herself down beside Norris, shouting, "Hey, What's all this going on here without me! Can't you pay the slightest attention to your hostess! Who do you think I am?"

One of the girls struck her vigorously with a clenched fist. "Shut up! Norris's telling us the most screaming thing about his going over to a dance at Green Point last night and how they turned out to be the saddest, wettest bunch he ever—"

"Oh, my goodness!" Kitty cried. "I don't want to miss a word of this! For heaven's sake, Norris, how did you, of all creatures in the world, ever get mixed up with a—"

"Thought you were going to shut up," he said humorously. "Well, I'm not going back to the beginning just on your account, Kitty. Well, there was one girl there—I wish you'd seen her! She had on a red dress and blue earrings and wore spectacles and—"

"Norrie! No!" Kitty's laughter instantly seemed to prove an increase of her ecstasy. "Don't tell me! I can't stand it!"

"It's the gosh-awful, simple truth," he said, somewhat gratified. "I danced with her—"

"You didn't! Don't tell me you danced with her! I simply can't bear it!"

"I did. I gave her the hottest razz I ever gave anybody in my life and—"

"And she simply lapped it up, every word!" Kitty squealed. "Norrie Enderton, you know she—"

"Listen! Can you listen or can't you?"

Kitty gurgled a rapturous apology and Mr. Enderton continued his narrative without further interruption, except for applause monosyllables and demonstrations of loudest laughter. None of the laughter was louder than Kitty's; it could still be heard from her when, at the close of the afternoon party, she drove away as part of a bouquet of girls in Norris's overcrowded car.

On the beach a little later she came upon Joe Nutter who evidently had not been made any happier when one of the Fuller girls insisted upon talking to him. "Hi," Kitty said casually as she strolled on. Joe rose, tensely, but all he finally said was "Hi!"

When Mrs. Brendle returned home at a late hour that night and found Kitty sitting upon the bed in an attitude of stoop-shouldered reverie, a posture so unusual with her that it disturbed the mother a little.

"Nothing's the matter, is there, Kitty?"

Kitty looked up slowly; then suddenly, to Mrs. Brendle's dismay, she began to weep. "Mother, do you think I'm just an angel?" (To Be Continued)

PALO ALTO, Oct. 12.—(UP)—Perseverance has its rewards. Take the case of Joe Oeschger.

In 1920 Oeschger pitched the longest baseball game in major league history. On the mound for Boston, Oeschger and Leon Cadore of the Philadelphia Phillies staged a 26-inning mound duel, darkness ending the game, at one-all.

Retiring from baseball, Oeschger turned his thoughts toward an education. In 1930, he became director of physical education at a San Francisco junior high school.

Today he won another "long game" when Stanford university

Engineers to Make Dam Trip Nov. 10
The Hoover dam trip will be taken over the Armistice day holidays. It was decided last night at the regular meeting of Santa Ana Junior college chapter of American Association of Engineers.

Those planning to go will leave on November 10 and are scheduled to return by November 13, according to Aldon Melzian, publicity chairman. Oral Hare and Harold Christensen were appointed by Dick Pinkerton, president, to make arrangements for transportation.

DIRECT STORE ACTIVITIES

Shown below are the proprietors of Taylor's Cash Store, 405 West Fourth street, which has just become a member of Federated Stores of America for cooperative merchandising and advertising. At the left is J. W. Taylor, Jr., in the middle is J. W. Taylor, Sr., and at the right is Kemper M. Taylor.

Purchasing Power Of Taylor's Store Greatly Increased

Taylor's Cash store, 405 West Fourth street, is now a member of Federated Stores of America, a national league of department and drygoods stores for cooperative merchandising as well as advertising. It was announced today.

The store is managed by J. W. Taylor, J. W. Taylor, Jr. and Kemper M. Taylor.

The store is now celebrating 19 years of business in Santa Ana after having been at the present location for eight years. According to the proprietors, the store operates on the basis of cash sales and small profits. It is no trouble to show the goods on display at the store, the proprietors said.

Speaking of the connection with the Federated Stores of America, the following statement was made: "This brings to Orange county an independently owned and managed store with all the purchasing power of any large national chain of stores. Yet the disadvantages of control from New York or Chicago is done away with. The store can govern its policies to meet local conditions and serve its customers as those customers demand service."

"The first Taylor store was opened in Santa Ana 19 years ago. This makes a fitting way to celebrate an anniversary by taking a step to give Santa Ana and vicinity a broader and more comprehensive service."

INAUGURATE STORY HOUR AT LIBRARY

CAVANAUGH TO QUIT AS FORDHAM COACH
BY COPELAND C. BURG
NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—(INS)—He will deny it and Fordham will already have it in the popular refrain "say it isn't so" but Major Frank Cavanaugh is out as head football coach at Fordham university.

In other words his contract, which expires next month, will not be renewed.

His health was given out today as the cause of Cavanaugh's passing at Fordham and for once in a blue moon it's the truth. Cavanaugh actually is sick, there is no coach-school fight behind the scenes and he will leave the New York institution with the faculty's deep regret.

As a matter of fact, it was learned Cavanaugh has been unable to actively coach the Fordham squad this fall and direction of the team has been largely in the hands of Hiker Joy and Jimmy McDonald, his assistants. Joy was in charge yesterday.

The "iron major" has been at Fordham under a contract calling for $15,000 annually.

A pound shower was held for the Rev. and Mrs. E. M. Sutton, the occasion being their 48th wedding anniversary.

COMMENT ON PRO-RATE PLAN

Orange growers throughout this district will find a letter written by C. M. Brown, citrus fruit shipper of Redlands, official of the Gold Banner association and a member of the original pro rata committee, of great interest. The letter which was addressed to the press said:

"The Gold Banner association and its management feel that they are unbiased in any statement that they may make relative to the pro-rate agreement."

"Now I have read very carefully three different times the Mutual Orange Distributor's advertisement of Friday, September 23, and if some eighth grade school boy had written this article it would have shown as much intelligence, as the M. O. D. has shown in this article, if not more."

No Basis
"In the first place, under 'Greeting,' they state: 'We believe that it is manifestly unfair and impossible for two or more groups to unite on a beneficial program when any one group sponsors the idea that all other groups should be destroyed or their membership weakened.' There is nothing in the pro-rate agreement that would indicate that there was any attempt of the California Fruit Growers Exchange or anyone else to destroy any group or groups of growers, collectively or individually."

"The abundance of the M. O. D.'s position could not be better illustrated than in the first paragraph of their advertisement when they state as follows: that the welfare of the individual grower is paramount and any plan affecting the growers' fruit must be designed solely for the purpose of benefiting the individual grower."

"Assuming that the M. O. D. is right in their last column under 'Abandoned Pro-rate,' and it reads: The abandoned pro-rate plan we believe is detrimental to the best interest of the individual grower."

Industrial Welfare First
"Now there is no plan that can be devised by man that will be satisfactory to all the individual growers. There never can be any plan that will be satisfactory to all of the individual growers. Many growers always want to pick their oranges, just as soon as orange shipping starts. Others want to wait for some short pool and find out from their packing house manager if prospects for that short pool are good and if so they want to pick all. The individual grower cannot be considered. It is the welfare of the industry and nothing else that has to be taken into account."

"The M. O. D. states that under the pro-rate agreement the shipping of loose fruit actually was a detriment, that it permitted the sale of loose fruit and standards on the Los Angeles auction and on the Pacific Coast and as far east as Denver. Did their withdrawal benefit this? Did it stop the sale in Los Angeles auction? Did it stop the loose fruit sales all over the Pacific Coast and as far east as Denver? There was a truck at our place this morning wanting a load to take to Minneapolis."

"There is no argument but what the Los Angeles auction is a bad thing for the grower. It is a bad thing for the industry, but withdrawing from the pro-rate does not stop it."

M. O. D. Could Help
"The M. O. D. could do more good in this pro-rate agreement than it could outside. It is not helping the orange grower or the industry particularly. It is doing an untold injury to the whole state."

"Under 'The actual operation of the abandoned Pro-rate,' the M. O. D. states that they were allocated 10.78 per cent and that the largest shipper was allocated 86 per cent. This would make almost 97 per cent that the smaller shippers would have made over 100 per cent, while the Pro-rate never at any time claimed to have more than a fraction over 90 per cent. The M. O. D. must make their figures clear or state the truth about situation. The Exchange was never allocated 86 per cent."

"Now let me turn to the other side and give you a real honest to God account of why they pulled out. One of their prominent men told me they withdrew because the Exchange was allocated a larger percentage than they were entitled to. They sent a circular to the growers telling them they withdrew because of the fact that the growers did not have anything to say about it, and that the loose fruit sales were the worst thing. Every statement that different members of the organization have given to the press has been different. No two of them agree."

With 40 per cent of last year's crop in the Texas, and with 60 per cent to 65 per cent in Florida and with 70 per cent to 75 per cent in California you will hear a different tune next year. It will not be the old song. Perhaps the M. O. D. will then say that they were the cause of the improvement in the orange market by staying out of the pro-rate."

THE NEBB—The Ingrate

THESE ARE TRYING TIMES FOR THE PEOPLE'S CANDIDATE FOR SENATOR — HE IS NOT CALLOUSED TO THE ABUSE THAT GOES WITH A POLITICAL CAMPAIGN.

WHAT ARE WE GOING TO DO ABOUT THIS LITERATURE THAT THEY'RE SPRINKLING FROM THE SKY?

BUY UP ALL THE AIRPLANES AND PRINTING PRESSES

YES, AND WHEN I COME OUT AND DENY THAT I AM INDEPENDENT OF WEIT AND HIS GANG, YOU GUYS FROTH AT THE MOUTH AND CALL ME AN INGRATE — I COULDN'T BE ELECTED DOORKEEPER IN HADES WITH YOU FELLOWS ON MY BAND WAGON!

WHO NOMINATED YOU? WHO PICKED YOU OUT OF POLITICAL OBSCURITY AND MADE YOU A CANDIDATE FOR SENATOR? YOU'RE JUST LIKE A GUY WHOSE FATHER WORKS ON THE END OF A PICK TO SEND HIM THROUGH COLLEGE AND THEN THE KID'S ASHAMED OF HIM.

COOLIDGE APPEALS TO VOTERS

Ex-President Coolidge undoubtedly made many votes for the Republican ticket last night in his speech in Madison Square Garden. The address was a characteristic Coolidge address, frank, simple, direct and forceful.

He said among other things, "No government had ever yet been devised that could keep the people prosperous all the time. But a bad government will constantly keep the people in distress."

Unquestionably, there is a very close connection between the industrial and economic life of a people, the laws under which they operate, and the government which administers those laws. The difference in the value of land on the two sides of the Mexican border is a complete illustration of the truth of that idea. It is exceedingly difficult, however, to estimate the full part that is played by the government, and that which is played by the genius and ability of the people. It is certainly true that the enterprise of the American people would be bound to develop a country like Mexico, even under Mexican law, to an infinitely higher degree than it has been advanced by the Spaniards and the peons.

We like to think that that which helps ourselves, individually, is helpful to all the people, and attribute the degree of success which all have to the particular legislation which enhances our own personal interest. The development in material prosperity in the United States has been unprecedented in history, and the period of this development has been for the most part, the period of a certain form of national administration conducted by the Republican party.

The theory of tariff protection of American industries, particularly when coupled with the embargo on immigration, is bound to distribute prosperity, and is dependable, except in such cases as we need the markets of the world for gain, and these markets are closed to us by a reciprocal tariff placed against our goods by nations who are injured by our own tariff walls.

Certainly during most of this period, this retaliatory effort by other nations has not seriously affected us. The present slump has come about in spite of all efforts for protection, the distribution of the benefits of protection through the destruction of world markets, the destroying of the equilibrium of trade, the chaotic condition of money, the destruction of confidence, and the uncertainty of the future in respect to reparations and war debts as between the nations.

Ex-President Coolidge, in part, took these into consideration in his address, and appealed for the support of Mr. Hoover. Mr. Coolidge is exceedingly popular, is associated in the public mind with prosperity, and his address will undoubtedly strengthen the lines all along the Republican battlefield.

MORE DISCLOSURES ON INSULL TRANSACTIONS

Now it appears that Samuel Insull received a total salary income of some $500,000 from the public utilities of which he was the head. Other salaries to members of his family were rather heavy.

It also appears that considerable profit was made by others in underwriting. Aside from the stockholders in these utilities, the public itself is greatly interested in these transactions which are being uncovered. For the public is charged with all of this expense, when the rate for any public utility product is fixed, for a profit rate usually of eight per cent is permitted by the public utilities on investment.

As a result of the investigation of the Insull companies, we are probably closer to the time when the public will insist on having something to say about the nature and size of the expenses which are to be incurred. Without this, the limitation on rates with the idea of saving the public expense would be rather farcical.

Along the same line, the disclosure of the subscriptions for stock at lower rates than the same stock was offered the public by the security companies, is rather illuminating. A group of men were let on the inside, and asked to subscribe for stock at lower prices than the stock would afterwards be sold to the public. And then, of course, in the rising price of the stock as it was submitted to the public, they could quickly make the difference between the price they were supposed to pay and the market price. It seems that $185,000,000 was so subscribed, but only $11,624,000 paid in, and on this small amount 30 per cent was made.

Among those subscribing were Owen D. Young, Rufus C. Dawes, brother of Charles G. Dawes, Frank L. Smith, who was elected to the Senate of the United States by the people of Illinois, and denied his seat because of his relations to the Insull properties, Anton J. Cermak, mayor of Chicago, Joseph P. Tumulty and several of lesser note. Of course in the last analysis, the public either pays these bills or pays interest on them.

After a three-year study, a group of economists has decided that the solution for the depression is to provide more jobs. Next thing we know, they'll find out that all politicians are not honest.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS PRESENTED WITH DICE

The League of Nations is destined to endure. Moreover it will be powerful and important and useful. For it embodies a sense of humor. A pair of dice was presented to the president and council of that august body the other day by the International Association of Journalists who are accredited to it. The dice were presented to serve as a means of settling peacefully and economically international questions where the dice would serve better than discussion.

The dice, it is reported, were received in fine spirit. Sir Eric Drummond, Secretary General, accepted them in behalf of the League. In his acceptance speech he said that he agreed with the donors that there are a good many questions that could best be decided by the dice, such as what calibre of cannon ought to be abolished. Furthermore, he said that he would like to see the covenant revised so dice would be recognized as one means of settling disputes. He said that the dice would be kept handy in the League museum and he hoped that the press would do all it possibly could to get the dice accepted among the people of the various nations as a proper method of arriving at decisions.

Most of the difficult decisions which threaten the existence and future of the League arise not from a difference of opinion as to what should be done but the doing of it. The dice might well decide that and at least now and then the thing would be done which ought to be done. When selfish interests and duty clash let the dice decide. It might not be a bad idea.

Oct. 6.—A Memorable Date

Pomona Progress-Bulletin

The sixth day of October does not ordinarily impress Americans as an important anniversary. But a group of Texans of German descent held a celebration on that date this year—a celebration to commemorate the founding of the first permanent German settlement in the United States.

That event took place on October 6, 1683, when a group of religious refugees from the German Palatinate landed at Philadelphia; and when you stop to think about it the date is one which is pretty important in the life of the nation.

For some reason we often have a singular blindness when we look back to our national origins. We talk about the English settlers who landed at Plymouth Rock and Massachusetts Bay; we know all the details about the other English settlements in Virginia, the Carolinas and Maryland; we're familiar with the Dutch settlements at New Amsterdam and in the Hudson river valley; but we never pay much attention to the incident that began the vast and profoundly important stream of German migration to North America.

These German settlers came over on the ship Concord; a ship which ranks in importance not far below the Mayflower itself. Reaching Philadelphia, they soon established the town of Germantown, and paved the way for that tremendous influx of German peoples which was to continue for two full centuries and which was to provide the nation with one of its most industrious and useful groups of citizens.

The United States, indeed, owes a great deal to the unsatisfactory conditions in the German states which caused so many Germans to look overseas. Few nationalities contributed more to the upbuilding of the nation. Such cities as St. Louis, Milwaukee and Cincinnati can testify abundantly to that.

Before the United States entered the World war it was fairly common for groups of Americans of German descent to commemorate the October 6 anniversary. The war, naturally, interrupted the custom; but its revival by these Texans is good news, and it is to be hoped that this date hereafter will have, to all of us, the significance that it should have.

Handsome Is That Handsome Does

Christian Science Monitor

There has been no sign given that the Ugly Men's Association of Perth, West Australia, is going to change the name of the institution. The qualifications for membership which have always been simply the possession of ugliness have not, as far as can be learned, been altered.

No doubt the members go about full of a sort of perverse, boyish pride in the possession of their unprepossessing exteriors. Of such institutional details one can speak but in whimsical suppositions and fancies, for exact information is lacking. On one point, however, there remains no question. The record of this strange club bears out the old quotation, "Handsome is that handsome does."

This organization, which in 1919 raised £6000 to teach men carpentry, blacksmithing, and other pursuits, has lately purchased a farm for the training of boys in agriculture. During the next 18 months, says a press dispatch, "the Uglies" hope to train 1000 boys.

If this is the way ugly men comport themselves when they organize let us hope that they get together in increasing numbers. What the world needs, in other words, is more ugly men, and them organized. Like that famous ugly man of literature, Cyrano de Bergerac, the members of the Ugly Men's Association undoubtedly carry their adornments in less material molds.

STAGE FRIGHT

If Homer, when his lyre he smote,
Had known that folks in coming ages
Would sit around for hours and quote
His stuff, set out on printed pages,
He would have muttered in afright,
"O Shucks! I don't know how to write
For all those educated high-brows."
It's just as well he didn't give
A rap how long his work would live.

If Julius Caesar, in his prime,
Had ever entertained the thought
That war-lords of a future time
Might talk about the way he fought,
He might, the while he flushed with shame,
Have torn his laurel wreath asunder
And cried: "These birds who know the game
Won't think that I am any wonder."
It's fortunate he didn't know
How far his history would go.

If Shakespeare ever had a hint
That practically all his plays
Would be produced and put in print
In dim and distant future days,
He might have sighed and said: "Oh, hum!
I wished that I might be forgotten;
Those wise birds in the time to come
Will surely think my stuff is rotten.
If they're to read this work of mine
I'll never write another line!"

Yet it's rather disheartening to think that the balance of power is the group that thinks times are made good or bad by a President.

When they flash the names on the screen they flash them off again so fast a person hardly has time to read Jack Robinson. Find the place for me, will you, Willyum. I hate to waste through all those advertisements to find the page with the cast of characters on it, she said."

And pop started to look through his program, opening the first page and saying, "I testify cheerfully that ever since I began using Smerk's orange nale polish my popularity has increased by leaps and bounds, signed Lady Diana Wilberforce, formerly Dolly Stringer of the Follies."

O, who cares about that just now, tern over, ma said.

Wich pop did, saying, "The most unruly hair stays put when slicked back with Lacquerine."

Willyum will you find that program? ma said, and pop said, "I'm looking."

And he turned another page, saying, "Babies cry for Milkajoola but never afterwards."

Willyum I think you're terrible ma said, and pop said, "It's not my fault, I didn't write this program, I'll try starting from the back."

Wich he did, saying, "Peppotone has 30 uses, all wimmin should send for free booklet. Heinbocker's hats lend real distinction. Flizmaleen, the soft drink of a nation."

O shaw, the lites are going out and the picture's going to start, ma said. I'll take the program home and find out afterwards, she said.

Wich she did.

In the Long Ago

From The Register Files

14 Years Ago Today

OCTOBER 12, 1918

At a meeting of the Men's club of the Church of the Messiah, a message of Godspeed was sent to the club president, C. G. Twist, who had left for service with the British army.

Dr. E. W. Hauck, principal of Fullerton Union High school, was preparing to leave for Camp Zachary Taylor, Kentucky, for four months' training in the field artillery. He had served through the Spanish-American war, and was captain of the Fullerton Home Guards. He was granted a leave of absence by the Fullerton school trustees.

Mrs. O. W. Robinson, formerly Miss Isabel Smiley, had arrived from Honolulu for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Smiley.

The Anaheim Walnut Growers' association shipped the most valuable carload of walnuts that had ever been sent from this district. It was valued at $12,000 and was consigned to a Boston market.

Mr. and Mrs. George Paul Jr. were receiving congratulations upon the birth of a son, George Paul III, on October 11.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

DEATHLESS FATHERHOOD

The other day a singularly moving incident reached out of the news columns of a mid-western newspaper and clutched, I am sure, at the hearts of thousands of readers.

The story was, in the main, a peculiarly sordid story of murder. A farmer, his wife, dead two years since, was enamored of the peasant-like girl who had served as house-keeper in the farm home since the death of his wife.

The house-keeper disliked the twelve-year-old son of the household, and threatened to leave her post.

Lest he lose the house-keeper, with whom he had become emotionally entangled, the farmer, in whom all the normal emotions of fatherhood seemed dead, calmly took his son, under the cover of night, far down a gulley that carried autumn and spring rains racing down a woodland hillside, beat his brains out with a great rock, and buried him under a pile of stones in the bed of the then dry gulley.

Within a few days autumn rains had come and washed tons of soft earth over the pathetic stone-covered body of the dead lad.

Seemingly the secret was safe. But before long suspicion nosed it out, and, weakly surrendering to cross-examination, the farmer led the officers to the spot where he had buried the boy whose life he had bruised out.

He located the burial spot by aid of a chair spindle he had driven into the ground behind a tree some distance from the stone grave in the gulley.

When asked why he had driven this marker into the ground when obviously he did not want the murder discovered, he answered simply with no apparent sense of the incongruity of his answer.

"Why," he said, "I couldn't bear to leave him out here where I might never be able to find him."

"Did you plan to come back for his body some time?" he was asked.

"No," he said, "I didn't want ever to see him again."

"Then why did you mark his grave?" he was asked.

"I don't know," he said bewilderedly.

Deathless fatherhood spoke from this fogged brain, a fatherhood that struggled to function even in the midst of a singularly brutal murder.

The human heart is infinitely complex, and we must tread softly when we seek to pass judgment upon its moods.

The something that made this brutish farmer, as he coldly beat out the brains of his son, put a marker near the grave he was concerned to conceal defies the easy explanation of man that the mechanists give.

A BOOK A DAY

"Should a boy, or a girl, read a book a day?"

I vote No. Now and then there is a little book that a child can read through in an hour or so. Well and good. There is no sense in insisting that a child stop in the middle of a story just because it is in the middle. Let him read his story and go on from there to something else. Vary his occupation.

The lady who asked the question is an assistant to the librarian during the summer when children read a good deal. She meets the child who gets a book each day. Be the book long or short, he reads it in the day. He thinks he does. Does he do well to handle books like that?

To begin with, the child's health would not allow him to read like that. An hour or so of reading a day is about all that a child can do. To read all day, scarcely stopping for meals, will weary a child's eyes, check his digestion, make him irritable and cause him to lose touch with family and friends.

A child needs a variety of occupation. The book is for a happy hour or so, not for a whole day. That is making a toil of a pleasure, as the proverb has it.

Apart from the effect his steady reading has on the child's health it has a harmful effect on his reading habits. A child who races through a book is not reading it in the real sense of reading. He has only a dim notion of the matter when he closes the book. He used it to lull his mind to sleep.

It is not wise to lull a mind to sleep when one is young. It is not too good a practice when one is old and full of cares. A mind needs to be stimulated, charged for action. When a child uses books to carry him out of his world for hours and for days on end, there is something wrong with his world.

The teacher, librarian, mother ought to start a search into his daily living. Into his way of thinking and doing to discover the reason for the child's desire to retreat from the world. That is, what is at the root of this day after day reading. Don't imagine that the child is getting any quality from his reading. Nor that he is a booklover of any worth. He is searching for a means of quieting his unrest. That is not the best use for books in childhood or youth whatever might be said for it in old age.

Know what your child is reading. Read with him. Talk over the books. Be tasteful enough to keep your hands off his choice. Remember that a child advances from Mother Goose through the fairy tales, myths, adventures, romances to the literature of the race. It takes some time to cultivate the taste and the understanding for literature. Be content to make a good start.

Let the older children, those between sixteen and on, choose their reading. Any book the library offers them will do them no hurt. Freedom in reading is good. But a book a day for a child of nine in unwholesome whatever way you look at it.

(Copyright, 1932, The Bell Syn., Inc.) (Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, inclosing stamped, addressed envelope for reply.)
